Holiday Inn expands

Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley (left) and Jerry O'Meara Jr. jointly push shovel into ground at ground-breaking ceremony last week (Tuesday) for huge expansion of Holiday Inn in the Detroit Metro

VB, Huron fear annexation

Van Buren and Huron townships have one thing in common — both fear annexation of portions of their boundaries by adjacent cities.

To that end, both have moved to take action to become charter townships, which under Michigan law, affords greater protection against the threat of annexation.

In Van Buren, a petition has forced a referendum vote at the next election held in the township, while in Huron the township board has announced its intention to become a charter township by resolution.

However, even the protection against annexation now provided under Michigan statutes may not be enough.

A recent decision by the state

Boundaries Commission, presently an all-powerful body in the area of annexations, permitting the city of Utica to annex a half-square mile of Shelby Township, has the Van Buren Township up in arms.

Adamant that the Boundaries Commission is the sole authority in defining the standards of annexation exemptions allowed under state laws, the Van Buren board unanimously adopted a resolution calling upon the Governor and its area legislators to create a special commission to decide annexation cases.

The resolution calls for the commission to be comprised of an equal number of active township officials, city officials, a representative of the Michigan

Township Association, and the Municipal League.

By way of explanation, under Michigan law, a city can annex all or part of an adjoining township, but does not allow the reverse.

The Van Buren resolution states that the Boundaries Commission has ruled in favor of cities in the majority of past annexation cases, and that annexation erodes a township's boundaries and tax base and leaves a huge burden on the residents of the remaining portion of a township.

Recently, the city of Belleville has been successful in annexing a portion of Van Buren, while a second annexation case between the two governmental bodies is still in the courts.

Police uncover bonanza

7 Nabbed in drug raid at Romulus residence

A daylight raid by police last week (Tuesday) at a Romulus residence resulted in the arrest of seven persons, $16,000 in cash, a substantial amount of drugs and two sawed-off shotguns.

Names of the six men and one woman, all adults, were not released by police pending their arraignment in the Romulus 34th District Court.

According to Al Pollack, police community relations director, members of the narcotics squad and uniformed personnel of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department burst into the front and rear entrances of a house at 15409 Woodmont about 2 p.m.

A male occupant tried to escape by jumping through an unopened downstairs bedroom window, but was captured by police waiting outside, Pollack said. Another male was searched and a set of brass knuckles was found on his person, a felony which carries a sentence of up to five years in prison, he explained.

Also confiscated in the raid were three pounds of hashish stamped from Lebanon, eight pounds of marijuana, one ounce of cocaine and three ounces of PCP, a horse tranquilizer used by many drug addicts. Also found in a utility room at the residence was a formula for making PCP, Pollack said.

He said the house on Woodmont had been watched by police for the last four months after information was supplied to them by street informants. Three of the seven persons arrested were residents of the house and four were from the downriver area, Pollack added.

VB school bd. president dies in Chicago air disaster

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

Friday's tragic crash of an American Airlines jet airliner in Chicago which killed 273 persons numbered among its victims Mike Mlsna, president of the Van Buren school board.

Mlsna, 47, of Van Buren Township, was bound for Los Angeles on business for the Xerox Corp., a trip he had made many times when the worst disaster in American commercial aviation struck at O'Hare Field.

A special memorial service will be held today (Wednesday) at 2:30 p.m. at the Belleville United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Joy Arthur officiating. All students will be dismissed from class in time to attend the service.

In lieu of flowers, a memorial fund will be administered by James Richendollar, principal of Belleville High School. Those persons wishing to contribute can contact Richendollar at the high school or call the administration building for additional information.

Mlsna, who was manager for the Xerox publishing divisions in Ann Arbor and New York City, was elected president of the Van Buren school board after he won a seat as a write-in candidate during last year's school board election.

High words of praise came from Supt. Elvin Peets, who himself joined the Van Buren Public Schools last fall not long after Mlsna assumed his new duties with the school system.

"Mike always impressed me with his dedication to getting school problems solved. He spent unending hours during the evenings and on weekends to see that the job got done," Peets said.

"He was even-tempered and very skillful in the area of human relations and always willing to listen to the other person in his efforts to get things resolved," the superintendent added.

Peets said as a lay leader, Mlsna was "the finest I've ever seen."

He said Mlsna had called him about 2 p.m. on the day of the crash, shortly before takeoff, to tell him he was going to the west coast on business.

Surviving are his wife, Suzanne, who is employed as a teacher in the kindergarten at Elwell Elementary School in the Van Buren Public Schools; three daughters, Julie, who is married, Jill and Gretchen; and two sons, Michael Jr. and Todd.

City pushes for Metro air safety

Recent publicity over inadequate air traffic control equipment at Detroit Metro Airport last week prompted Romulus Council to unanimously pass a resolution calling for a study of the "antiquated equipment."

Indicating concern for the safety and welfare of the 30,000 residents of Romulus and some 4,000,000 inhabitants of the region surrounding the airport, council implored the Federal Aviation Commission and/or the Wayne County Road Commission, which operates the giant air terminal, to take action on the matter immediately.

Further, the resolution stated, "A long standing concern at the Detroit Wayne County Metropolitan Airport has been the need to modernize the air traffic control equipment currently in use."

Copies of the passed resolution were forwarded by council to Pres. Jimmy C. Carter, state senators Donald Riegler and Carl Levin, U.S. Cong. William Ford, Michael Berry and Richard E. Manning, of the Wayne County Road Commission, and surrounding communities, urging their support.

Given unanimous approval by council was the 11.85-mill levy recommended by Dave Krause, city assessor, as needed to generate revenues for the 1979-80 city budget. Already past the deadline, the millage rate approval will allow the processing of summer tax bills by the city.

Krause, in his recommendation of the millage rate, stated the debt retirement portion had been reduced by 0.35 mills, making the Romulus millage rate "one of the two lowest millage rates for cities in Wayne County."

In other action, council delayed action on a request from Willis G. Ponfield to sell a house he owns to the city for $60,000.

Located at the northwest corner of the city hall complex at 35229 Goddard Rd., the house and property must be sold, Ponfield's letter to council stated, so he could buy a comparable house near his daughter on Sharon Street in Romulus.

Council President Mary Ann Banks said council will seek a qualified appraisal and try to negotiate with Ponfield on purchase of his house and property if money could be found to buy it.

She added that the city budget is "tight" and council would still be faced with the problem of what to do with the house and property once it is purchased.

'Doc' Carpenter honored

Chamber warned

Banker warns of decline

A Detroit banking economist Wednesday joined with his colleagues across the nation when he told the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce that he foresees little growth in 1979 and a slight recession developing.

David Littman, vice president and economist for Manufacturers Bank's downtown Detroit office, addressed chamber members at the Hilton Airport Inn during their luncheon observance of Livelihood Day, the sixth day of Michigan Week in the city.

Explaining that additions to the employment rolls and productivity growth are healthy signs of economic growth, he said "productivity has turned negative" across the nation and in Michigan.

Littman stressed that the sharp upturn in employment experienced since 1975 has not taken a downward turn in the first three months of this year.

His forecast of a slight recession was borne out by the 12 leading economic indicators which he said showed little growth for 1979. Also, he said the housing market was down from some two million starts to about 1.6 to 1.7 million annually.

The economist explained that the 9-percent inflation rate in the first quarter of this year will grow into double-digit figures as the year progresses.

Answering a question from the audience, Littman said, "The secret of growth is capital accumulation, whether it be in the Soviet Union or the United States."

Asked about how an economic decline influences interest rates, Littman replied short-term rates will decrease as the economy gets more negative, but long-term rates conversely will continue to rise until early 1980.

Prior to Littman's address, Clarence "Doc" Carpenter, outgoing chamber president, was honored with presentation of a special plaque by Gary Bingamen, newly-elected president, for his efforts in getting the newly-formed organization, now numbering 150 members, off the ground.

Also receiving recognition plaques for their work in behalf of the chamber were four members of the board of directors: Fred Nesley, business manager and advertising director for Associated Newspapers; Bob Reese, local attorney;

Leo Kalota, vice president of the Romulus branch of the Manufacturers Bank; and Eugene Wilson, international representative for the UAW.

Gas shortage: Most residents doubt it exists

By CARRIE YOUNG
ANP Staff Writer

Big Oil and Big Brother are out to rip off the American public. So says the public.

From Romulus to Canton Township, from Westland to Wayne and Plymouth Township, residents are buying gas, but they aren't buying the energy scare stories.

"It's a hoax," insisted Sally Myers of Canton Township.

Of the 50 persons interviewed throughout Western Wayne County last week, Associated Newspaper learned that 98 percent believe gasoline prices are rising not because there is a gasoline shortage, but merely because oil companies want to make vast profits. Some even believe that the U.S. government is supporting the oil companies in their scheme.

The Oil Game — It's a game with rules so complex and fast changing that practically no one can understand them.

It is, of course, the craving for crude that keeps the game going. Petrolic economics everywhere remain excessively hooked on that old Black Magic.

Not only has demand for gasoline, which accounts for one-third of the nation's fuel bill, continued to grow fast, but U.S. dependence on foreign oil has increased by nearly 50 percent.

And as gasoline station owners in Western Wayne County are lamenting, when the foreign supply is cut or prices hiked, everyone feels it here in the United States.

Angry and resentful, people are blaming the one institution that grows richer every time there is an oil shortage — the $360 billion-a-year U.S. oil industry.

"Why shouldn't we. I mean we've gone through this before, and as soon as they got the prices where they wanted it, then all of a sudden they found oil," said Diana Baldwin of Westland.

For the second time in a decade consumers have been told not to panic, but that gas prices would be on the rise due to a waning fuel supply.

But Judy Blalock doesn't believe the supply is low — at least for the immediate future.

"They got us in 1974, and I didn't believe it then," Mrs. Blalock said. "But even though I don't believe it, believe me it will start affecting us."

Already she and her family have chosen a small, economical compact car to replace the old gas guzzler of yesteryear.

Tom LeGault of Westland sees the gas shortage as a "bread and circus" situation.

LeGault, who spent more than $2,000 in gas last year due to extensive traveling across the country as a commercial artist, said there is enough petrol in the ground to suffice for another 30 years.

"It's a control of the masses by both the government with its motives and the gas companies which are out to get more than their share of the money," LeGault said.

Barbara Timmerman of Canton, like most interviewed, had a definite opinion of the shortage.

"It stinks," said Ms. Timmerman, who has decided to remain in Canton where the stores are near to home rather than move further out into the country.

"It's already affected me. We're staying right here, and it's primarily this gas thing that's decided it for us," said Ms. Timmerman, who added that she will not be taking a vacation this summer.

"Vacation? In this mess? I'd be afraid to get caught with no gas and no stations open," she said.

The gas shortage has taken its toll on senior citizens, living on fixed (Continued on Page A-5)

GRAND CAYMAN—PIRATE'S PARADISE

About 500 miles south of Miami and a few hundred miles north of Costa Rica, there lies a tiny island known as Grand Cayman, only 22 miles long and 8 miles wide. Not only are the waters around the Caymans so clean that you can see 200 feet through them—there is something to see: brilliant coral reefs, pearly conch, yellowtail turtle grass, friendly fish.

By the 17th and 18th centuries, the island was renowned as a place to beware of, a notorious way station for pirates and buccaneers, among them, Blackbeard and Henry Morgan. In those days, a lantern hung around the neck of a donkey being walked on the windward side of the island at night appeared much like the light of a ship under sail in safe waters. Any ship following that gleam soon foundered on the offshore reefs and became easy prey to island plunderers.

The best way to see the ancient wrecks is to be an expert diver. Second best is to be an expert swimmer with stops along the coastal road, but circles G and Cayman.

Council delays tax abatement guidelines

Adoption was again delayed by Romulus City Council last week on what criteria should be considered before an industrial development district is approved and a tax reduction granted for up to 12 years for businesses requesting them.

A committee was appointed by Council President Mary Ann Banks which will meet with Hyle J. Carmichael, city building director and industrial coordinator, to further review the matter.

Mrs. Banks said the committee will come back to council with its findings at which time a definite course of action will be approved for setting guidelines for the tax abatement plan as permitted under Michigan Public Act 198.

The rather recent state legislation permits a city to grant property tax reduction for up to 12 years as an incentive to business locating or relocating in its boundaries.

At last week's session, a memorandum from Carmichael and John Shea, the mayor's administrative aide, presented a "bottom line" recommendation, the second by Carmichael in recent weeks.

The two men recommended that an industrial development district be granted only to those business concerns that would pay taxes which would net the city at least $2,500 per year. Further, they recommended that the duration of the tax abatement be negotiated for a period of time less than the 12-year maximum if possible.

Council took under advisement a request for a traffic light at Eureka and Brandt roads or at Eureka and Colbert roads submitted by David J. Paul, director of public works.

Paul's memorandum told council that the Wayne County Road Commission is preparing a cost estimate of the Eureka and Brandt traffic signal.

However, back on Dec. 19, 1978, Paul in a written communication to the mayor and council, said the road commission preferred the traffic signal to be erected at Eureka and Colbert.

At that time, Paul indicated he concurred with the county road commission. "It is our feeling that a cost comparison will show the Colbert location at very roughly $12,000 and the Brandt Street option might approach $60,000 due largely to the necessity of relocating the county drain," he explained.

The road commission had told Paul the relocation of the county drain would be necessary to build a passing lane on the north side of Eureka Road should the traffic signal be installed at its juncture with Brandt.

First step on erecting a traffic signal and Eureka and Brandt came in July of 1978 on a resolution proposed by Councilman Gerry Canejo which received unanimous council approval.

In other action, the council voted unanimously to accept the recommendation of Marge McCrory, chairperson of the Romulus Recreation Commission, to install outdoor security lighting at Merriman Park. The lighting is part of the repairs being made at the park.

Accompanying the recommendation were the results of a survey sent by John Shea, the mayor's administrative aide, which showed residents who lived near Merriman Park to be overwhelmingly against alcoholic beverages in the park, for a neighborhood watch program, and for the park to close at 9:30 p.m. instead of the present 11 p.m. closing time.

Also approved by council was the rezoning of 36 acres of land near Huron River Drive and Hannan Road from M-2 (general industrial) to R1B (single-family residential).

At a public hearing held Jan. 15, 1979, by the city planning commission, a representative of the Clawson Concrete Co., located to the east of the rezoned property, had appeared to protest the proposed rezoning.

The planning body subsequently recommended the rezoning unanimously.

Mrs. Banks said the action had been delayed since March because of confusion over whether the property was to be rezoned to R1A or R1B.

Cornerstone open house slated June 7

Cornerstone Counseling Services is holding a community open house at its Romulus office on Thursday, June 7, from 3-6 p.m., it was announced by Leonard Melnick, executive director. The Romulus Office, located at 13739 Huron River Dr., was opened in December to provide out-patient community mental health services in this area.

Staffed with social workers, psychologists, and psychiatrists, Cornerstone offers individual, group and family therapy for community residents in need of mental health services. Since the office opened in December of 1978, over 165 individuals and families have received help for personal problems.

Cornerstone Counseling Services is the operating agency of the Southwest Wayne County Mental Health Association. This association was formed almost four years ago by local residents who recognized the need for community mental health services in the southwest corner of Wayne County. The services are made available through funds provided by the Detroit-Wayne County Mental Health Services Board and the State of Michigan.

In announcing the open house, Melnick stated, "A cordial invitation is extended to all community residents to visit with us, meet our staff, and learn about the services we are offering in this community."

Cornerstone Counseling Services also has offices in Sumpter Township and the city of Taylor. The overall goal of the organization is to provide comprehensive community mental health services for the cities of Romulus, Taylor and Belleville, and the townships of Huron, Van Buren, and Sumpter.

Sumpter teen selected as recipient of Rep. Ford's Medal of Merit

Outstanding youth

Lori Kay Broughton of Sumpter Township joins a rare group of teens, who have been selected as recipients of Congressman William D. Ford's Medal of Merit for Outstanding Youth. Lori was recognized for her outstanding work and leadership in church and community affairs. The 14-year-old received her award from Ford (right) May 19.

A Sumpter Township teen has been selected as one of 16 young people to receive Congressman William D. Ford's Medal of Merit for Outstanding Youth for 1979.

Lori Kay Broughton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Broughton of Sumpter Township, was recognized for her outstanding work and leadership in church and community affairs "at such a young age." Lori is 14.

In presenting her with her award, Rep. Ford said: "You certainly must be an inspiration to others." Lori was able to raise $2,000 on her own to purchase a bus to transport youth groups to church and community activities. She also was cited for her outstanding work in the youth department of the NAACP.

The recipients of the award were selected from communities within Congressman Ford's 15th Congressional District. They were honored in special ceremonies May 19 at the Wayne County Intermediate School District Building in Wayne.

Among the other winners this year were four young people, honored for individual humanitarian acts. They were Gregory Theodoran of Gibraltar, Steven Mitchell of Garden City and Patricia Lynn Riggs of Carleton, who saved young boys from drowning; and Sarah Simpson Hounshell of Ash Township, who rescued two children from a burning house.

Those recognized for the outstanding volunteer work in their communities, like Lori Kay, included Robert Kaufmann, Anne Marie Mikulec and Daniel Witt of Dearborn Heights; Anna McTaggart of Woodhaven; Gerilyn Reining of Garden City; Victor Skelly of Brownstown Township; Brian John Smith and Tammy Stanifer of Flat Rock; Kim Steele of Inkster; John William Stone of Taylor and Kevin Whitehead of Westland.

Plaques, bearing the Congressman's Medal of Merit also were presented to the Peppermints Youth Group and the Ukrainian Dancers of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church.

The Peppermints were honored for their volunteer work in schools, hospitals, senior citizens homes and other activities in the community. Their sponsoring organization is the Inkster Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

The Ukrainian Dancers were cited for their dedication to their cultural heritage and their American spirit of sharing by giving volunteer performances for nursing homes, senior citizens and community activities.

This is the third year Congressman Ford has recognized the efforts of young people living in the 15th District.

Motor vehicle fire: What do you do?

You're driving along the highway when you notice smoke coming from underneath the hood. What do you do?

Pull off the road, grab your fire extinguisher if you have one, and get out.

A motor vehicle fire happens to some 500,000 drivers each year. The National Fire Protection Association estimates that there were 722 motor vehicle deaths nationwide due to fire in 1977.

If the fire is intense, or is in the vicinity of the gas tank (know in advance where it is located on your car, get away from it and call the fire department as soon as possible).

If the fire is not intense, is not in the vicinity of the gas tank, and you have an extinguisher, you may want to put the fire out yourself, but you still should have someone call the fire department.

Fire fighting experts recommend that you carry a fire extinguisher in your car. It should be an ABC all-purpose type of extinguisher. (A is for ordinary combustibles including car interiors, B for flammable materials such as gas, and C for electrical fires).

A 5-pound extinguisher is the recommended size. The 2½-pound size can be too quickly dissipated in getting the stream of dry chemical contents on target. Some drivers carry a 10-pound extinguisher in the trunk for their own use and for possible assistance to other fire victims along the road. The extinguisher should carry the Underwriters Laboratories' seal.

In preliminary returns in a 1979 study, of the first 538 motor vehicle fires investigated, 57.4 percent were initially located in the engine compartment, 15.9 percent in the instrument panel, 11.8 percent in the passenger compartment and 1.9 percent in the exhaust system (mostly overheated catalytic converters). All other locations totaled 12.9 percent.

In these early returns, 97.4 percent of the fires were not the result of collisions, only 2.6 percent were crash induced, and 8.4 percent were suspected arson. Some 53.5 percent of the fires resulted in total losses of the vehicles.

Normal maintenance by a reputable mechanic or garage should include a check of the electrical system to detect possible danger, including worn wires that could lead to shorting. Fuel lines should be checked to be sure they are not cracking or leaking and are properly attached.

Keeping the car in tune prevents backfires through the carburetor, which can cause fires in the engine compartment. Keeping the engine clean and free of oil deposits and grease also will help reduce the potential for a fire under the hood.

The fuel filler pipe always should be capped securely. Otherwise, there's the possibility of explosion should someone smoke near your car. If you're in an accident, with an uncapped tank, the gas could splash and cause fire. This could be disastrous if you were trapped in the car.

SHOULDER PAIN, CHIROPRACTIC & YOU!

The shoulder joint has great mobility — perhaps the greatest range of motion in any joint of the body. For that reason, the shoulder is subject to considerable trauma. Forceful exercise, rheumatism, bursitis, sprains, occupational stress, postural defects — any of these can cause shoulder pain.

Pain is nature's warning something has gone wrong. Pain signals are caused by sensory nerve stimulation. The network of nerves coordinating movement of the shoulder and arms is called the brachial plexus. The brachial plexus supplies vital nerve energy transmitted from the brain, through the spinal column to the shoulder muscles.

The shoulder joint, like other body joints, also can become infected or injured. A strained or torn tendon, resulting from a fall or unusual strain, is a frequent type of shoulder injury. Such injuries can produce a vertebral misalignment called a subluxation.

The brain produces electrical impulses of energy constantly, generating power to muscles and organs. A vertebral misalignment irritates the nerve, which distorts these impulses. Without the normal supply of nerve energy, sprains, infections or torn muscles cannot heal. Chiropractors are trained to locate subluxations and to relieve pressure by correcting the subluxated vertebrae.

Inflammation and pressure resulting from subluxations are relieved by spinal adjustments. Adjustments restore the normal energy impulses, allowing nature's healing process to proceed. Gradually, the shoulder pains subside.

Immediate attention to shoulder pain can prevent secondary complications; statistics show early treatment helps ensure favorable results. Don't wait for pain to vanish. Consult your chiropractor when shoulder pain begins.

MAKE AN APPOINTMENT FOR YOUR FAMILY TODAY!

Regardless of the health problem you or any member of your family may have, it is entirely possible that your family chiropractor can replace despair and sorrow with glowing health and happiness.

Spinal pressure and tension on sensitive, delicate nerves may cause many diseases. Chiropractors are especially trained to analyze and correct spinal distortions, thereby preventing further disability, suffering, and expense.

Gas shortage doubted

incomes. Margaret Mortensen is one.

Mrs. Mortensen's rent recently was raised $50 where she resides at Westchester Towers in Wayne. And with that to bear, she is bewildered about how she will withstand yet another price increase for gas.

"Oh, I don't like it... don't like it at all. It's bad," Mrs. Mortensen said.

Tom Pry of Romulus resents the oil companies, but resents the government even more.

"What bothers me is the government seems to be backing them. And it's all nothing but a rip-off," he said.

Evelyn Prokop lifted her eyebrows, then winked.

Then the Westland resident proceeded to let the reporter in on a "little secret."

"Let me tell you, I don't believe it because I have sources up north who tell me that they've stopped drilling in the past three to four months. Why it used to be that they constantly would drill," she said.

"Now isn't that interesting... especially when we're paying those high heating bills. There's gas; they just aren't drilling for it."

The lone resident believing that the shortage is a shame, but not a sham, was Bill Carr of Canton.

Carr said he didn't know why there was a shortage, but believed there is one.

Charles Shipley, executive director of the Service Stations Dealers Association of Michigan, said there is a gas shortage, with many causes behind it.

One cause is the supply cutoffs from foreign countries. Another is the lack of refineries built over the years in the United States.

While residents admit to being more conservative, meaning less non-essential trips to the store, carpooling to work, no long-distance summer vacations and moving closer to their everyday shopping needs, they are not doing it without putting up a fuss.

"I don't want to, but I'm going to have to get rid of my Oldsmobile-98 for a smaller car, probably a Monza," said Rose Marie Swiercz of Wayne.

Craig Wilcox said the shortages will affect him in some ways, but refused to purchase a small car.

"That's one thing I won't do. Or let's say I can't do," said the 6-foot, 2-inch Garden City resident. "I can't fit in the damn things."

Say what you will... hoax or the real thing, but Jim Zimmerman simply says: "Bah humbug" to the whole thing.

Fowler joins U.S. Army through its DEP

Pvt. Terrence Allen Fowler, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fowler of Sumpter Road, Belleville, recently joined the U.S. Army through its Delayed Entry Program.

He was recruited by S. Sgt. Anthony McNeil of the Army Recruiting Station at 32 N. Huron Avenue, Ypsilanti.

Pvt. Fowler, who will graduate from Belleville High School in June, will go on active duty June 22. He will take his basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

Also in the armed forces: Marine Pfc. Anthony S. Earle, the son of Albert S. and Nannie Earle of Moore, Romulus, has been meritoriously promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

He received the early promotion for his superior performance during all phases of the 10½-week training cycle, which emphasized physical conditioning, self-discipline and teamwork.

Marine Lance Cpl. Cary K. Kaiser, the son of Stephen F. and Sharon R. Lake of Westvale Drive, Romulus, has reported for duty with 3rd Marine Division on Okinawa. A 1977 graduate of Romulus High School, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1977.

Navy Fireman Recruit Mark J. Liberacki, the son of Elroy J. and Helene Liberacki of Zink, Carleton, has completed the Basic Enlisted Course at the Naval Submarine School, Groton, Conn.

During the 6-week course, he was introduced to the basic theory, construction and operation of nuclear-powered and diesel submarines. In preparation for his first assignment, he studied shipboard organization, damage control, and submarine safety and escape procedures.

He joined the Navy in November 1978.

Technical Sergeant Timothy J.

Tibai, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Tibai of 281 Labo Road, Carleton, Mich., has graduated from the Air Force Communications Service Noncommissioned Officer Academy at Keesler AFB, Miss.

The sergeant, who received advanced military leadership and management training, is a ground radio communications technician at Clark AB, Philippines.

Sergeant Tibai is a 1968 graduate of Monroe Catholic Central High School.

Airman 1.c. Eugene M. Tieppo Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Tieppo Sr. of Inkster Road, Romulus, is a member of an organization that recently won the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

The airman is an aircraft maintenance specialist at Lakenheath

RAF Station, England, with the 48th Tactical Fighter Wing that earned the award for meritorious service from Oct. 14, 1976 to Dec. 31, 1977.

Airman Tieppo is a 1977 graduate of Romulus Senior High School.

Milan hosts outdoor fair

Milan's 10th annual Outdoor Art Fair will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. under the trees in Wilson Park this Saturday.

The invitational art exhibit is sponsored by the Milan Arts and Crafts Club. Some 100 artists and craftsmen from Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin, Illinois and from as far away as Florida, will be exhibiting their original works in such medias as sculpture, graphics, pottery, painting, textiles, stained glass, jewelry, leatherwork and wood.

Some of the exhibitors also will be demonstrating their skills during the fair, which also will feature an exhibition of children's school artwork.

There is no admission charge for the fair, however, in case of inclement weather, the exhibition will be set up in the Milan Middle School, located on South Platt Road.

The park is located on Wabash Street in downtown Milan.

Harold Rediske

UHT Memorial Funeral Home

HAROLD REDISKE JR.

HOW DOES ONE DEAL WITH A DECEASED'S BELONGINGS?

One of the most painful jobs the family of the deceased must face after the funeral is the disposition of the deceased's personal possessions. Hastily discarding possessions is not always the wise thing to do. Memorabilia can become valuable with time; not intrinsically, perhaps, but sentimentally. Clothing, jewelry, books, a stamp collection, a camera, a pocket watch — are these items to be discarded? Or retained as keepsakes?

We've observed that many articles, like jewelry, or a watch, are not discarded; rather they are prized by members of the family as precious mementos. Nostalgia often takes over and a simple item, like a small pocket knife, becomes a son's pride and bitter-sweet pleasure.

Clothing, on the other hand, may find its way into the hands of the needy by way of a favored charity; or, very often, many mourners take great pleasure in seeing a close relative regaled in a favorite suede jacket, a suit, a fur.

Things that matter

By GEORGE R. PLAGENZ
United Feature Syndicate

Evidence for belief in reincarnation, even in Christian church circles, has been accumulating in recent years.

One of the most widely read books on the subject is "Twenty Cases Suggestive of Reincarnation" by Ian Stevenson, professor in the department of neurology and psychiatry at the University of Virginia Medical School.

In 1964, Stevenson interviewed a boy whose first word, at age 2, was the name of the mistress he had in his previous life. Stevenson tabulated — and corroborated — 56 other items recalled by the boy from a previous incarnation.

Stevenson also relates the story of a man who died in 1946. The year before, he told his favorite niece and her husband that he would return as their child. He said they would recognize him by two scars he bore — one on the side of his nose and another on his back.

Eighteen months later, the niece gave birth to a son who possessed birthmarks which duplicated the scars of Victor, the dead man. When the baby was 13 months old, the mother was teaching the boy his name — Corliss. He interrupted her to say, "Don't you know me? I'm Victor."

I personally am impressed by Stevenson's evidence, but I am not entirely convinced.

Take that story of Victor and Corliss. Corliss may have had birthmarks at the places where Victor had scars. But the question I ask is, did those birthmarks show up there because Corliss' mother was thinking — during pregnancy — about Victor had said about coming back, scars and all, as her son?

Some people believe that births are affected by what the mother-to-be is thinking about before she gives birth.

There is a story in the Old Testament about Jacob, who tended the flocks of his uncle, Laban. There came a time when Jacob entertained thoughts about striking out on his own.

He made a deal with his uncle that, when he was ready to leave Laban's employ, he would be allowed to take all the striped (or streaked) cattle in his uncle's flock. That would constitute his wages for all his years of labor.

That was agreeable to Laban — who didn't reckon with Jacob's tricky mind.

Jacob got some tree branches and cut strips of bark off them so that they had a striped appearance. Then he placed the limbs in the watering troughs where the cattle came to drink just before giving birth to their young.

The people of the Near East, like Jacob, believed that any offspring would have the characteristics of whatever it was that the mother was gazing on just before giving birth.

As the cattle drank, they naturally stared at the striped branches in the watering troughs and, sure enough, when the new baby cattle were born, they were all striped or streaked.

And, says the story in Genesis, Jacob ended up a rich man, "with flocks numbering in the thousands."

I recall telling this story once to a woman who was anticipating the birth of her first child.

"Oh," she said, "I hope the baby looks like Paul."

Paul is her husband. He is no better-looking than the next guy, but of course Susie adores him. So she could think of nothing better than to have a baby who looked just like him.

I told her that there is still this belief in Persia that a child will look very much like the person on whom the mother-to-be gazes before the birth.

I suggested that she spend as much time as possible before the baby was born looking at Paul.

Believe it or not, the child is 5 years of age now and looks exactly like her father.

So, as I say, I am wondering whether Corliss' mother had a picture in her mind of her baby having scars where Victor had them — and that this accounts for the birthmarks.

A tribute to Michael Mlsna

Dear Michael Mlsna,

We are thankful for your life in the school community as a peacemaker.

As a citizen, you were concerned about your children and all children in the Van Buren Schools. You put your concern and responsibility to action when you took a leave of absence from your job to learn more about our schools and find positive ways that you as a citizen could help our school system.

You established the Citizen's Advisory Council of the Van Buren Schools. We watched you as you attended seminars on school topics, and encouraged open public attitudes and feelings about our schools — their strengths and their problems.

We watched you take people's positive and negative comments and weave them into a positive web of problem-solving solutions that revitalized our schools.

We watched you as you found something of worth out of everyone's comments. We watched you bring people together on common ground.

We watched you when you were exhausted from long hours of reaching-out to people and uniting them with information gleaned from your long hours of research on our schools. We watched as you continually put the focus of education on kids.

Yes, our schools had and still have their problems, but you never allowed yourself to be negative or heckling in your approach to school problems.

We watched you when you would not waiver to your commitments to the best overall education our kids could have, and you decided to run for Board of Education.

We watched you as you applied your superb leadership skills to be President of our Board of Education. We watched you defend citizen involvement in our educational system. You listened — really listened — to everyone — board members, teachers, administrators, parents and citizens, but most of all to kids.

You were responsible for student representatives to the millage meetings and Board of Education meetings.

For your positive attitude toward problem-solving, your value placed on each community member's contribution to the schools, for emphasis on uniting rather than dividing, for finding the strengths in people rather than the weaknesses, Michael Mlsna, you are a peacemaker, and blessed are you among the sons of God.

Our prayer is that each person in the school community — board members, school administrators, teachers, and other important school employees (for all were important to you), citizens, parents, children and young-adults will remember that:

1) Finding a common ground — kids — unifies and solves school problems.

2) Listening is an active way to solve problems.

3) Accepting each person's worth and their comments opens the door to the problem solving process.

4) That pursuing peace is the only way to bring the problem-solving process into successful completion.

Michael Mlsna, peacemaker, we are thankful to be touched by your life. May we all become peacemakers.

The Citizens Advisory Council of the Van Buren Public Schools

Ed Note:

Michael Mlsna was a passenger on the ill-fated DC-10 which crashed 45 seconds after take-off from Chicago's LaGuardia airport. Mr. Mlsna served as President of the Van Buren School Board shortly following his election last year to the board.

A Michael Mlsna Memorial Fund has been established by the Van Buren Citizens Advisory Council, and anyone wishing to make a contribution may do so in care of: Michael Mlsna Memorial Fund, C/O Mr. Jim Richendollar, Belleville High School.

Editorial opinions

Airline disaster grim reminder

For many, the tragic crash of an American Airlines DC-10 45 seconds after take-off from Chicago's LaGuardia Airport, remains only an isolated event affecting only people we don't know.

But we have all been affected by that occurrence to some extent. Whether we grieve for the families of those killed in the disaster, or simply praise or good fortune that such an event did not occur here, the fatal flight which took the lives of 273 persons will remain in our memories for ever.

But understandably, the foremost question being asked now is how would we deal with such a disaster should it occur in this area.

Last year, Wayne County in cooperation with several area hospitals and local officials, staged a 'Mock Disaster' at Metro Airport.

That disaster drill presented to area officials the scenario of a crippled plane crashing on landing at the airport when a landing gear collapsed.

While that drill did focus attention on a potential local disaster, it affected too few relative to the solution to long-range goals for dealing with such a possible occurrence.

We think that officials should once again promote an effort to study and plan for an air disaster which all of us pray will not occur, but realistically must concede, remains a possibility as long as we live within the shadow of one of the country's busiest airports.

While no amount of planning could have saved any of those 273 who died in the Chicago crash, we must be prepared to deal with a situation which pits time against the loss of life.

It has been estimated that had the crippled DC-10 which went down in Chicago, remained in flight only one second longer, a Mobile Home Park and its 500 residents could well have been engulfed in the ensuing inferno. The death toll could very well have been closer to 700.

How would we be able to deal with such a situation?

What plans currently exist for the mobilization of the area's medical facilities to cope with such a disaster?

We think it is time to convene a standing committee to oversee disaster preparedness. And we think that the Mayor of Romulus, home of Metro Airport, should be foremost in any such planning.

No one cares to dwell on the possibilities of a disaster occurring in their own neighborhood, but Mayor Oakley of Romulus must accept that responsibility which comes with the office of Mayor in any community which is the site of a large airport.

We will all pray that the expense and lost time associated with any such preparations will be wasted, and that no disaster will ever occur.

But the crash in Chicago, much like the crash last year in California, should remind us that often, being prepared for the worst, is the only preparation for the future.

Metro park fees may be a solution

The recent decision by the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority (HCMA) to begin charging users of Lower Huron Metro park for use of its facilities, may provide a blessing in disguise.

While on the surface, this new policy appears to discriminate against the people who might take most advantage of the park's facilities. But when viewed from the perspective of lessons learned in neighboring communities relating to problems associated with youthful abuse of the Edward Hines Parkway, perhaps the HCMA decision will work to the benefit of most people.

With increasing numbers of young people looking to the parks for escape, and the resulting higher percentage of those youth who care little for the feelings of others, perhaps this decision by park authorities could provide a solution.

It is indeed unfortunate that people who have grown accustomed to the free and unrestricted use of the parks, will now have to pay a small fee for that privilege. But in the long run, the question is not how much parks charge for use, but rather, whether you want to use the parks at any cost.

It appears that our park systems are beginning to feel the effects of judicial inaction, much as the rest of society has.

And since it is apparently no longer a simple matter to deal with those who would abuse the system, perhaps the only other way to deal with the problem at all is to try and eliminate those, through other means, who would make life miserable for the rest of us.

Even if cost alone does not discourage those who are looking for a place to make a public spectacle of themselves, funds raised through the fees could well be used to provide the necessary enforcement of park rules to discourage the potential youthful offenders of good taste.

So, until we are able to control our children, teach them about the rights of others, or encourage them to be considerate of others, maybe, charging for the use of park facilities will have to substitute.

We think that before you dash off that nasty letter to park officials, you should consider their point of view.

It is just possible they have hit upon a solution, as simple as it is, that will ensure the continued unrestrained use of the fine parks we have all grown accustomed to.

'Big Foot' and the doctor

There is, around the house of late, something which resembles the legendary 'Big Foot,' but this creature is of the kid variety.

Seems that while engaging in America's favorite pastime, son Mark, had an encounter with second base. And second base has no bones.

As a result, the 15-year-old heir to my throne, has a plaster cast firmly attached to his errant ankle, and his parents have been considerably relieved of considerable cash.

Ah yes! To date, almost $800 has been spent on returning that ankle to its former healthy state, just about $750 more than pre-insurance rates of the 1950's.

As I recall, a portion of my youth and anatomy, was also confined to plaster. Early in my 'budding' athletic career, I was to discover that I had inherited a weak left ankle.

It fractured the first time while playing ball, the second time, playing basketball, the third time while rescuing one of the kids, and again while playing ball.

Now I wouldn't even guess my ankle set any record for the most frequent misfortune, but I do have some small idea on the procedures associated with, and the costs of repairing, such misadventures.

And based on that limited knowledge, it is my opinion that today's doctors, at least the doctor who has been casting my son's ankle, is not overly concerned with informing my son's parents of the problems associated with that ankle.

But, I certainly could not claim that my boy was not getting what appeared to be, excellent treatment.

Already Mark has had almost as many casts on his leg for this one injury, as I had for all of mine.

Recently, he received his third new plaster sock, and the two previous models are resting securely, along with all their autographs, in a corner of his room.

Most certainly there is a good reason for this approach. Perhaps, my one cast per break only indicates a lack of proper medical care at the time I was treated, or perhaps, it indicates that when I was treated, health insurance had not progressed to its current level of coverage or perhaps it indicates that Mark's break was considerably more severe than mine. I don't know.

But I do know this.

At the time that Mark first broke his ankle, and while he was having the first cast applied, X-rays hanging on a nearby wall were not explained to Mark's parents. Even though the doctor was questioned about the severity of the break and asked to show the parents where the break was pictured on the X-rays, doctor chose to ignore the requests, and today, neither parent knows exactly how bad the break in the ankle really was.

Now, perhaps doctor was having a bad day and already had reached his limit of tolerance for ignorant questions from anxious parents who wouldn't understand his answers anyway. Or perhaps doctor just didn't care what the parents thought since his first concern was for his patient.

But regardless, questions now remain where none should.

While I would certainly not take it upon myself to judge the medical profession, too often no experienced judge is necessary. The doctors themselves most often provide the necessary impressions that judgments are based upon. And too often those judgments are negative.

I suppose the only way anyone could possibly relate to the problems and burdens placed on the people in the medical profession would be to become a member of that profession. But it is no secret that these people who proudly claim to be doctors, while investing heavily to gain that distinction, also reap heavy rewards.

A coronary by-pass operation will bring the surgeon involved, several thousands of dollars for his days work. Even the routine removal of an appendix will provide the surgeon with several hundreds of dollars for just a few hours of his time. And it appears that today's doctor, and his hospital, has been able to elevate the broken ankle to new levels of importance and potential income. And all the while, doctor's image is falling while his income is rising.

I am no advocate of any National Health Plan. In fact, I am afraid that any scheme such as that would be the end of convenient medical attention, even if the costs are far too high. But what I do fear is that the doctors and their casual attitude toward dealing with patients and parents, will force all of us to the brink of a system which will be even worse.

So doctors, enjoy your villas in Spain. Enjoy your three-day-work-week and your six digit salaries. But don't for one moment forget that you are your biggest enemy.

If a National Health Plan is forced upon us, you will be to blame, and we will be the ones who will have to live with the problems.

'Bottle Bill' committee progress

By WILLIAM KEITH
State Representative
33rd District

at a recent public hearing conducted by the special committee.

The spokesman for the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, which led the drive for the non-returnable container law, charged that beverage industry officials are trying to make the law fail by unjustified higher prices.

Representatives of beverage distributors and dealers, on the other hand, urged that the law be modified or scrapped because it will cost more than $300 million in increased labor and capital expenses. They said the law has unreasonably increased their costs, which have to be passed on to consumers.

There was also the opinion that implementation of the ban on non-returnables has gone well, with litter cleaned up, energy resources saved and the public accepting the switch to returnable bottles and cans.

The MUCC contends that price increases come from a number of factors not related to the ban, including wholesale prices and inflation. The beverage industry representatives denied charges of "gouging" Michigan consumers with price increases blamed on the non-returnable ban.

A spokesman for the Associated Food Dealers said that individual stores had to spend as much Michigan's non-returnable container law is only five months old, yet it already has sparked considerable controversy.

There are those who like it and those who do not like it. The proposal was placed on the ballot by citizen petition, approved by voters in the November, 1976 General Election, and went into effect last December.

It has caused problems and brought complaints, yet its supporters warmly defend it as something that is good for Michigan. The law banning non-returnable beer and soft drink containers and requiring deposits is under scrutiny in the Legislature.

Early this year, the Legislature voted to create a special House-Senate committee to study the impact and effectiveness of the deposit law and to recommend to the Legislature means by which the effectiveness of the law can be increased and any negative results of it minimized.

The special study was prompted by various claims made in regard to the impact of the law on the beverage container and related industries, jobs, the prices of the beverages, energy consumption, litter and solid waste.

There were strong charges made by both sides as $13,000 in capital expenditures just to get ready for the ban, and that they will have to spend another $6,500 due to the ban in 1979.

He stated that the ban will also cost dealers more for labor, just to handle the empty returnables, and more for other incidental costs such as pest control. He said that total costs of the ban for the beverage industry will be as much as $300 million.

The special committee also heard testimony that it is still too early to know the total impact the deposit law has had on the state, and that another six to 12 months is needed to collect all the data necessary to draw conclusions on price and impact.

It was also contended that while the ban has resulted in increased costs, it can also result in some savings for the beverage industry.

The special committee will have more time to seek out information.

It is authorized to function throughout the 1979-80 session of the Legislature. It is to have its recommendations for the Legislature by the end of the session. There will be considerably more study by the committee. Just what its recommendations will be are, presently, unknown, but they should be of interest to Michigan consumers.

HELP

Pets are a great source of pleasure and comfort to many people. When we put our love on something and then lose it there is bound to be pain. The people who remarked that it was "only a cat" were probably insensitive to your pain. That is like saying "good thing you only broke your leg — it could have been your neck! Pain is pain and loss brings pain. You may, however, remember that to love an animal will bring the average person pain as the life span of an animal is shorter than that of a person. Sometimes preparation helps to deal with the pain — a little.

According to Mahalak

House bill would revise adult foster care law

Legislation revising Michigan's 7-year-old adult foster care licensing act has been passed by the House of Representatives, according to State Rep. Edward Mahalak (D-38th District).

The bill would establish several categories of foster care homes — private residence, providing care for six adults; small group homes, providing care for up to 12 adults; large group homes, serving 13 to 20 adults; and congregate homes, which would care for more than 20 adults.

Mahalak said that currently only three kinds of homes are licensed — family homes, group homes and congregate homes.

The bill would define a foster care home as a facility providing supervision for adults who are aged, emotionally disturbed, developmentally disabled and physically handicapped.

Nursing homes are not considered foster care homes, however, eventually homes for the aged would be considered in the measure, Mahalak said.

"The intent of the bill is to phase out congregate homes," he added. "Congregate homes will be licensed only if they are already in operation, or if a new building is being constructed to replace a currently operating home."

"Bill sponsors hope to encourage smaller homes that will be a part of neighborhood communities."

Annual inspections by the Department of Social Services would be required. Current inspections are handled by the Department of Public Health, which has control over the facilities.

Local governments could request that a home not be granted a license, but would be required to specify a valid reason why it should be denied, Mahalak said. All such complaints not acted on by the department within 45 days would be considered denied, under the proposed legislation.

3C1. Motion by Block, supported by Carter, to adopt Resolution No. 79-176: RESOLUTION 79-176

WHEREAS: Act No. 198 of the Public Acts of 1974 is designed to provide a stimulus in the form of significant tax incentives to industry to renovate and/or expand aging plants and to build new plants in Michigan; and WHEREAS: Under the provisions of the Act, a local governmental unit in which the total property tax levy is at least thirty (30) mills may establish property tax incentives to attract new plants to the area; and

WHEREAS: Said Act provides that a firm may apply for and be issued an industrial facilities exemption certificate which entitles the facility to exemption from ad valorem real and personal property taxes for a period of twelve (12) years. In lieu of the property tax, the firm will pay a specific tax known as the Industrial Facility Tax.

The Industrial Facility Tax for a new plant in an industrial development district is determined by the ad valorem property tax levied by the municipality instead, however, of using the total mills levied; only half the millage rate is applied; and

WHEREAS: Said Act provides that seventy-five (75 percent) percent of the owners of property to be affected by any proposed industrial development district may apply to the local governmental unit for the establishment of an industrial development district; and

WHEREAS: Edward J. Miller, did on May 8, 1979, submit a request to the City of Romulus to establish an industrial development district, its description as follows:

Land in the City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan, being that part of the N. W. ¼ of the N. E. ¼ of Section 12; Town 3 South, Range 9 East and being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the South line of Ecorse Road, said point distant S. 1 degrees 08'00" W., 100.00 ft. along the N. and S. ¼ Section line and S. 89 degrees 20'56" E., 267.01 ft. along said South Street line from the N. ¼ corner of Section 12; thence S. 1 degrees 08'00" W., 384.41 ft.; thence N. 88 degrees 53'39" W.; 267.00 ft.; thence N. 1 degrees 08'00" E., 382.29 ft. to the point of beginning. Contains 2.350 acres, more or less.

Parcel 2

Land in the City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan, being that part of the N.W. ¼ of the N.E. ¼ of Section 12, Town 3 South Range 9 East and being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the N. and S. ¼ line of Section 12, said point being distant S. 1 degrees 08'00" W., 100.00 ft. from the 20' 56" E., 267.01 ft. along the South line of Ecorse Road; thence S. 1 degree 08'00" W., 382.29 ft.; thence N. 88 degrees 53'39" W., 267.00 ft. to said N and S. ¼ Section line; thence along said N. and S. ¼ Section line, N. 1 degree 08'00" E., 380.17 ft. to the point of beginning. Contains 2.336 acres, more or less.

and, WHEREAS: Edward J. Miller represents more than seventy-five (75 percent) percent of the property owners to be included in the aforementioned district as required by the provisions of Public Act 198; and WHEREAS: Public Act 198 requires that a public hearing be held to hear any objections to and all reasons for the establishment of an industrial development district when a request is received by the local municipality for the establishment of such a district; and WHEREAS: City Council of the City of Romulus is cognizant of the critical employment situation existing within its corporate limits compounded by an equally critical employment situation in the State and indeed the country; and

WHEREAS: The establishment of the requested industrial development district would go far to encourage Edward J. Miller to continue with additional projects on this site resulting in additional jobs for the citizens of the City of Romulus, as well as, a substantial increase to the City's tax base.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus will hold a public hearing on June 5, 1979, at 7:00 p.m. in the Romulus City Council Chambers, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan, to take testimony from any and all parties having objections to the establishment of the requested industrial development district and to take testimony from any and all parties having reason to support the establishment of the requested industrial development district.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to all property owners within the proposed boundaries of said industrial development district, to all units of government currently levying ad valorem tax on property included in the proposed industrial development district, and that a copy of this resolution together with a notice of public hearing be published at least once in the official newspaper of the City of Romulus not less than five (5) days preceding said hearing. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Block, Canejo, Raspberry, McAnally, Cantrell, Carter, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

79-177

3D1. Motion by Carter, supported by Cantrell, to concur with the recommendation of the Economic Development Corporation that a waiver of jurisdiction on Theatrical Production Ltd.'s application be granted with the proviso that the applicant must pay the normal application fee, minus the $500.00 county fee, to the Economic Development Corporation of the City of Romulus. 5. Motion by Block, supported by Carter, to accept the Mayor's Report. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Canejo, Raspberry, Block, McAnally, Cantrell, Carter, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

79-183

7. Motion by Raspberry, supported by Block, to refer the matter of the Umholtz's to the Mayor's Office for investigation and resolution. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Block, Canejo, Raspberry, McAnally, Cantrell, Carter, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

79-184

7. Motion by McAnally, supported by Cantrell, to concur with the request of Daniel Kline of Temple Management Company and submit an application for $100,000.00 to the Wayne County Community Development Block Grant Advisory Council to be utilized for land acquisition and relocation costs incurred in conjunction with the A & P Project to be located at Van Born and Inkster Roads in the City of Romulus. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Block, Canejo, Raspberry, McAnally, Cantrell, Carter, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

79-185

9. Motion by McAnally, supported by Carter, to draft a resolution based on the objection of the employees of the Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport, wherein they are petitioning the FAA for more up-to-date safety mechanisms; and that a copy of the news article be attached to the resolution and sent to other communities who experience the same kind of hazards. This resolution is to be presented to the Romulus City Council at their next regular meeting, Tuesday, May 22, 1979. Roll call vote showing:

Ayes - Block, Canejo, Raspberry, Carter, Cantrell, McAnally, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

79-186

Motion by McAnally, supported by Cantrell, to adopt Resolution No. 79-186:

RESOLUTION 79-186

WHEREAS: The Legislature is currently considering House Bill 4325, commonly referred to as the Conflict of Interest Financial Disclosure Bill; and

WHEREAS: House Bill 4325, as presently proposed, serves only to impair the ability of local governments ability to attract citizens to public service; and

WHEREAS: The maintenance and/or stimulation of the quality of government can only be realized through the continued attraction of citizens to its service; and

WHEREAS: The Michigan Municipal League, an organization designed to promote the welfare of local government, has suggested that House Bill 4325 be revised to provide the following:

1. retain the bill's present provisions (subject to certain clarification) which prohibits certain specific conflicts of interest,

2. allow local governments to establish local conflict of interest review boards,

3. delete the requirements for filing of annual reports of sources of income, real property holdings, business interests, stock and bond investments, of themselves, their spouses, children and other dependents, and, instead,

4. to require ad hoc disclosure when a local official is faced with a pending conflict of interest; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus concurs with the Michigan Municipal League's Legislative Committee, that criminal penalties applicable to violations of specifically prohibited conflicts of interest, coupled with the requirement for ad hoc disclosure of other conflict of interest situations are sufficient incentives to achieve the purposes of the bill without the need for filing with the county clerks of lengthy annual reports by thousands of local officials, candidates for local office, and appointees to local offices throughout the state; and

WHEREAS: It is the belief of the City Council of the City of Romulus that unless the bill is so revised it will have a seriously chilling effect on the ability of local governments to encourage citizens to run for or accept appointments to local offices, boards and commissions; and that said bill enacted in its present form, the shotgun approach to financial disclosure in the bill will more than outweigh the presumed benefits the bill's promoters claim it will achieve.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus, that it does herewith set forth its unalterable objection to House Bill 4325 as presently proposed; and to herewith implore the Michigan Legislature to take steps to assure defeat of the bill, as presently proposed.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be sent to Governor William G. Milliken, Senator William Faust, Representatives Edward E. Mahalak and Gary M. Owen.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Carter, Cantrell, McAnally, Block, Canejo, Raspberry, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

79-187

WHEREAS: House Bill 4104, commonly referred to as the Foster Care Bill, is currently under consideration by the Senate Health and Social Services Committee; and

WHEREAS: The bill completely exempts foster care facilities from any and all local ordinances, regulations of construction codes and regulating institutions; and

WHEREAS: It is exceedingly doubtful, at best, that the State will provide sufficient trained staff to the Department of Social Services or the State Fire Marshall to provide an adequate job of enforcement and/or inspection on the assumption that said rules are adequate; and

WHEREAS: In this day of spiraling cost it seems ludicrous to waste additional State funds to perform functions local government can more adequately and expeditiously perform thereby enhancing the health, safety and welfare of the elderly, retarded or other residents of adult foster care facilities.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus, that it does herewith set forth its unalterable objection to House Bill 4104 in its present form; and does herewith implore the State Legislature to spare no efforts to see that this bill is defeated.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be sent to Governor William G. Milliken, Senator William Faust, Representatives Gary M. Owen and Edward E. Mahalak.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Canejo, Raspberry, Block, Carter, Cantrell, McAnally, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

79-188

10C. Motion by Raspberry, supported by Carter, to adopt Resolution No. 79-188

WHEREAS: The President has recommended cuts in the CETA jobs programs of 15.2 percent, 18 percent in low-income housing, reductions in social security benefits, nutrition programs, health programs, and many other programs which have been secured over the years; and WHEREAS: Organizations and individuals who are concerned about improving the condition for the poor, elderly, the aged, minorities and the unemployed have spoken out in strong opposition to the President's proposed cuts in the domestic social budget for 1980; and

WHEREAS: The Budget Committee action in each House is expected at the beginning of April, and full House and Senate action is expected during the first week in May.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City of Romulus does hereby go on record as opposing budget cuts in the areas of Employment, Aging, Community Action, Housing, Minority Business-Enterprise, Food Stamps and Nutrition, Health, Income Security, Social Services and Civil Rights.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be sent to State and National Legislators imploring them to oppose the cuts in domestic social programs as recommended by the President.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be sent to all surrounding communities requesting that they express opposition to their Legislators concerning the local impact of these cuts in domestic social programs.

Crime rise with temperatures

Commons Common sense helps combat burglaries

Crime statistics begin rising steadily with the thermometer during the spring and on into the summer, according to R.D. Hill, manager of the Detroit office of Pinkerton's Inc.

"Usually, severe winter weather in the Midwest and northeast area keep burglars indoors and inactive," Hill said. "But they can be expected to begin making up for lost time and profits now."

According to Hill, today's burglar is more sophisticated than ever and tends to plan his "work" carefully.

As an example, Hill said he may scan local newspaper, marking any travel or vacation story concerning residents. Hill advises residents to keep their travel plans confidential until after their return.

Criminals also mark stories about graduations or weddings and funeral notices, so if you're attending any of these, have a friend stay in the house while you're away.

"There is no longer such a thing as a safe community," Hill adding, saying that boasting of never locking your house or your car is like issuing an invitation to a thief.

As the late spring and early summer temperatures soar, people tend to become more careless about locking doors, Hill continued. Even if you're working around your own yard and garden, remember that someone might gain access to the house on another side.

And don't leave first-floor windows open while you run downtown on an errand, even if there are securely fastened screens.

*House tag or garage sales also can provide the would-be thief with ample opportunity to "case" a house for a future burglary. If you have such a sale, keep it outdoors, if possible, Hill advised, or combine it with others at a school, church or public flea market.

Two basic precautions you can take is participating in Operation Identification and taking photographs of your valuables.

Identifying marks or numbers can be engraved on such major items as televisions, stereos and camera equipment. Such efforts make it more difficult for the thief to "fence" his goods.

Photographing valuables can help in identifying valuables, including rare antiques.

Hill went on to say that common sense in keeping to a minimum of risks of break-ins should be used. For example, keep shrubbery trimmed so it won't give the thief cover. Put key locks on all windows that can be readily reached from the ground. And keep objects of obvious value away from windows and easy viewing.

Here's a handy checklist from Hill for those leaving on vacations.

— Stop deliveries of mail, newspapers, milk. And have a neighbor check and pick up advertising pieces that may be placed in your mailbox or door.

— Set timers on two or more lights to go on and off in sequence and in different parts of the house, plus a nightlight thereafter.

— Have a trustworthy neighbor cut your lawn weekly.

— Put valuable pieces of jewelry in a safety deposit box at the bank.

— Draw shades at random, never uniformly.

— Remove special hazards such as lawnmower fuel, stacks of newspapers, etc.

— Close interior doors as a precaution to retard fire.

— leave a full itinerary, as well as a key, with a trusted neighbor or friend.

— Put a broom handle in the track of your patio doors to prevent their opening.

— Keep prying eyes from seeing into your empty garage by putting up shades or curtains.

Senior door locks can get 'checkup'

Wayne County senior citizens, worried about their home security system, can obtain a free lock inspection, and if needed, an installation as the result of a newly instituted program by the Office on Aging, according to Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard of Inkster.

The project, a joint venture with Dearborn Heights Crime Prevention Bureau, was devised by Mayor Frank Swapka and Commissioner Beard as a free service to county senior citizens.

Robert Brandt of the bureau said more than 180 seniors have availed themselves of the service in Dearborn Heights and many more are expected to request an inspection.

"Thieves," he explained, "Mistakenly believe senior retirees hide large amounts of money around their homes and as a result target these seniors more than other homeowners."

Locks may be purchased by senior citizens at discount prices by contacting Harley Trumbull at 326-2411. Dearborn Heights seniors should call 277-7213.

3. Codification of Ordinances
4. Discussion
5. Adjournment

79-190

2. Motion by McAnally, supported by Block, to adopt Resolution 79-190:

RESOLUTION 79-190

WHEREAS: Act No. 198 of the Public Acts of 1974 is designed to provide a stimulus in the form of significant tax incentives to industry to renovate and/or expand aging plants and to build new plants in Michigan; and
WHEREAS: Under the provisions of the Act, a local governmental unit in which the total property tax levy is at least thirty (30) mills may establish property tax incentives to attract new plants to the area; and
WHEREAS: Said Act provides that a firm may apply for and be issued an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate which entitles the facility to exemption from ad valorem real and personal property taxes for a period of twelve (12) years. In lieu of the property tax, the firm will pay a specific tax known as the Industrial Facility Tax. The Industrial Facility Tax for a new plant in an industrial development district is determined by the ad valorem property tax levied by the municipality instead, however, of using the total mills levied, only half the millage rate is applied; and
WHEREAS: Said Act provides that seventy-five (75 percent) percent of the owners of property to be affected by any proposed industrial development district may apply to the local governmental unit for the establishment of an industrial development district; and
WHEREAS: Woodfab Company, did on April 30, 1979, submit a request to the City of Romulus to establish an industrial development district, its description as follows:

A parcel of land in the Southeast ¼ of Section 16, T 3S., R. 9E., City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan, more particularly described as beginning at a point, said point being distant North 00 degrees 09' 50" East 689.78 feet and distant 1295.27 feet North 89 degrees 48' 20" West on South line of Section 16 to the Southeast corner of Section 16, T 3S., R. 9E.; Thence North 00 degrees 09' 50" East 1494.60 feet to the Southerly Right of Way line of Wabash Railroad; thence on the Southerly Right of Way line of Wabash Railroad North 73 degrees 24' 30" East 316.91 feet; thence South 00 degrees 10' 10" West 1588.87 feet; thence North 89 degrees 17' 14" West 303.32 feet to the point of beginning, containing 10.74 acres more or less. Subject to easements of Record.

and,
WHEREAS: The Woodfab Company represents more than seventy-five (75 percent) percent of the property owners to be included in the aforementioned district as required by the provisions of Public Act 198; and
WHEREAS: Public Act 198 requires that a public hearing be held to hear any objections to an all reasons for the establishment of an industrial development district when a request is received by the local municipality for the establishment of such a district; and
WHEREAS: City Council of the City of Romulus is cognizant of the critical employment situation existing within its corporate limits compounded by an equally critical employment situation in the State and indeed the country; and

WHEREAS: The establishment of the requested industrial development district would go far to encourage the Woodfab Company to continue with additional projects on this site resulting in additional jobs for the citizens of the City of Romulus, as well as a substantial increase to the City's tax base.
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus hold a Public Hearing on June 12, 1979, at 7:00 p.m., in the Romulus City Council Chambers, 1111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan, to take testimony from any and all parties having objections to the establishment of the requested industrial development district and to take testimony from any and all parties having reason to support the establishment of the requested industrial development district.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to all property owners within the proposed boundaries of said industrial development district, to all units of government currently levying ad valorem tax on property included in the proposed industrial development district, and that a copy of this resolution together with a notice of public hearing be published at least once in the official newspaper of the City of Romulus not less than five (5) days preceding said hearing.

Adrian athletes honored at banquet

Three Belleville-Romulus collegians recently were honored at the spring sports banquet held at Adrian College in Adrian.

Steve Zimmerman, the son of Elfriede Zimmerman of Parkwood Drive, Belleville, was recognized for his ability in track. He is a freshman, majoring in physical education.

Craig Beattie, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beattie of Hannan Road, New Boston, was recognized for his prowess in baseball. He also is a freshman at the college.

Joseph Schieda, the son of Susan Schieda of Meadow, Romulus, was recognized for his track abilities. He is a sophomore, majoring in business administration.

Also on the college scene: Several appointments of Western Wayne County residents to the staff of Eastern Michigan University were approved by the Board of Regents May 16.

Appointed to positions with the Ypsilanti-based university were Connie R. Gowen of Belleville as an account clerk in the accounting office, Elizabeth I. Meseke of Belleville to secretary II in the physical plant department.

Frank J. Banotai II, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Banotai of Elwell Road, Belleville, is a candidate for a bachelor of science degree in electronic engineering and an associate degree in computer engineering technology from Lake Superior State College in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

A 1975 graduate of Belleville High School, Banotai was active in the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers and was their king candidate in the 1979 Winter Carnival at the college. He also was a member of the college's track team and Society of Manufacturing Engineers.

Following graduation Banotai plans to work as an associate engineer for McDonnell Douglas Astronautics Co., located in St. Louis, Mo.

Among the more than 1,000 spring degree candidates at Morehead State University in Morehead, Ky., is Romulus resident Richard Johnson. He is slated to receive an associate of applied science degree.

Two Romulus residents received their degrees at the 38th annual commencement exercises at Mercy College of Detroit.

The May 5 graduates were Julie A. Abler and Jon Michael Lake.

Ms. Abler received her bachelor of science degree in medical technology cum laude. She also was honored by being named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" in recognition of her academic achievement, community service and leadership in extra-curricular activities.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Abler Jr. Lake earned his bachelor of science degree as a physician's assistant. He is the husband of Donna Louise Lake.

Andre Parson of Romulus was among more than 375 students in the College of Arts and Sciences at Grand Valley State College to be named to the dean's list for the 1979 winter term.

He had to maintain a 3.5 grade point average, while carrying a 15-credit hour course load to be named to the list.

What's for lunch?

It will be an abbreviated school week next week, as students in the Van Buren public schools prepare for the start of summer vacation.

In the elementary schools the menu Monday will be juice, hot dogs on buns, baked beans, cookies and milk, while cook's choice will be on tap for Tuesday, the last day of school.

At West Willow, Quirk and Savage schools the menu Monday will be pizza, green beans, cole slaw, peaches and pineapple, chilly things and milk, while on tap for Tuesday will be oven-fried chicken, mashed potatoes with gravy, buttered beets, cranberry sauce, greens, white or wheat bread with butter, fruit cocktail, Jell-O and milk.

In the junior and senior high schools the menu Monday will be sloppy joes or Coney Island foot-longs, tossed salads, peaches, french fries, fruit Jell-O, cobbler, milk or a cold drink, while closing out the school year will be a cook's choice menu.

Security deposits would gain interest

Renters in the state will be earning 5 percent interest on their security deposits, if legislation introduced by State Sen. David A. Plawewski of the 12th District, is signed into law.

A companion measure would require landlords to return a security deposit within 24 hours, if the prospective tenant did not assume possession of the rental unit.

"Over the past few years, the legislature has been attempting to establish a greater amount of equity in landlord-tenant agreements, and these measures are a further needed step in that direction," Plawewski said. "Landlords have been entitled to the free use of an enormous amount of money which they can invest and profit from. It is only fair that tenants be assured of some return on their money as well."

The senator also is the sponsor of legislation which would entitle homeowners to interest on escrow accounts established by financial institutions to cover insurance fees and property taxes. Action on those measures is expected shortly in the Senate Committee on Corporations and Economic Development.

Glenn shows its best to win Northwest Suburban Conference track title

BARRY BASEL

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Metaphorically it was like putting the final piece into a perplexing puzzle. "It was great, really great," offered an euphoric Barry Basel after his John Glenn Rockets snatched the Northwest Suburban Conference track and field championship away from Livonia Franklin and North Farmington last week. Glenn entered the finals tied with their two rivals. Each had won four of their five dual meets. But Glenn, with three first places, two of those in the relays, piled up 131 points at the Franklin-staged championship, to outdistance runner-up North Farmington (123) and third-place finishing Franklin (94). Basel, who has been the head track coach at the high school since the school opened in 1965, has won four of the last six league titles. "We have had more talented teams than this one," Coach Basel pointed out, "but this team has been outstanding in many ways. Because we lacked depth, our kids had to go out there and win doubles and triples, and they have been super in that respect. "Also we have been fortunate that we haven't had any injuries and only one kid out with illness," Basel added. Franklin's Bob Holmes said that his team had to win the closest ones and didn't.

Franklin is champ

Super year for rookie coach Cullin

Though they still have a make-up game with second-place North Farmington, Livonia Franklin can put the 1979 Northwest Suburban Conference baseball championship trophy safely in its showcase.

Coach Gerry Cullin's Patriots have an 8-1 record as the final week begins, but North Farmington dipped to a 6-3 won-lost ratio, rubbing it out of the title race.

"Because we both have pre-district games on our mind," Coach Cullin said, "I don't think we're going to have time to make up our rained out game. Right now we're concentrating on the pre-districts."

Franklin was scheduled to meet Bishop Borgess on Friday to determine which team would qualify for the Class A district slated for Saturday at Redford Union. The pre-district game was rained out and rescheduled for Tuesday, weather and ground conditions permitting.

Meanwhile, Franklin wrapped up its regular schedule last week by splitting a doubleheader with Southgate Aquinas.

The Livonians took the first one, 6-zip behind Jeff Aguzzi's four-hit pitching, but lost a cliffhanger in the nightcap, 4-3, as the downriver team rallied for two crucial runs in the last of the seventh.

'The bouncer's' unforgettable baseball season

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Gerry Cullin has never forgotten the crisp fall afternoon that he booted me out of the Livonia Franklin Press Box. And he probably won't ever forget the 1979 high school baseball season, the first for him as head coach of the Patriots' baseball machine.

Franklin has been just that on the diamond this year — a well-greased, slick-clicking machine which has attracted so many college and professional scouts that it has amazed even the unmoving Cullen.

"They have been giving Herb (McManaway) and Chris (Baker) a lot of attention," said Cullen referring to the scouts. "They're at almost all of our ball games. In fact, at one game we were winning something like 11-1, so I decided to pull most of the regulars and this never section of fans just got up and walked out. They were all scouts."

"It's really amazing," Cullen added. It's also amazing what Cullen has done with this team he inherited from Ron Hellier. Usually when a veteran coach, like Hellier, moves out of a head coaching job, there is a period of transition in which the newcomer has to instill his style and his own philosophy of the game.

And usually during that time period, the team has its problems and it suffers.

Cullen would like to spend the next decade suffering through seasons like he did this one. His Patriots won eight of nine Northwest Suburban Conference baseball games and though they still have to play second place North Farmington, the Livonians have the championship stashed away. North has a 6-3 record and obviously can't catch the frontrunner.

A traditionally strong baseball school, a school that produced Bernie Carbo of Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinal fame, Franklin has always been a threat on the diamond during the Hellier Era. Hellier gave up the job to his assistant and moved over to Belleville High as the athletic director.

Cullen served as Hellier's apprentice for several years before assuming the head coaching job. Not only has his team compiled an 8-1 league mark but it has an enviable 17-6 over-all record and if it can get past Bishop Borgess in the pre-district game this week, the Patriots will be a tough opponent at the Redford Union Class A District Playoffs.

"We lack the pitching," Cullen says, "but we do have the hitting."

After 23 games McManaway is whacking the ball around at a .517 clip and Baker has a hefty .400 plus batting average. Is it any wonder the scouts want all the information that they can get for their computers on these players?

Cullen concedes that his team "may not be the best in the state."

As he puts it, "True, this team may not be the best ball team in the state, but I know for sure this is the greatest group of kids I've ever worked with."

What about the incident that led to my unexpected invitation to leave the press box at Franklin?

It was a long time ago. I was a "cub sports writer" — that's how long ago it was — and assigned to cover a Westland John Glenn and Livonia Franklin football game.

There was a cold autumn sun that Saturday afternoon and I figured I'd take refuge in the Press Box. Where else do young hackers pound out their living?

Upon opening the door to the press box, I was greeted by a younger, but physically much better appearing (than me) Cullen who asked my business. Cullen gently opened the door again for me and showed me out.

"But," I protested, "if the Press Box isn't for the Press, then who is it for?" I pleaded.

"Sorry," replied Cullen, "I have my orders. Unless you're a coach from the opposing team or a spotter or a member of our athletic staff you're not allowed in here."

The door slammed. I returned to my typewriter. Wrote. The next day I received an official apology from the school. The Franklin Press Box has been open to the Press ever since.

Grid clinic scheduled at Glenn

If you're a little leaguer and want to get a jump on the football season, Chuck Gordon is the coach to see.

Gordon, who heads the varsity football program at Westland John Glenn, announced last week that he and his staff will be conducting a Summer Football Clinic for little league gridders, ages 9 to 13.

The clinic will be held from July 23 to July 27 at Glenn and there is a $10 registration fee. Though players need not bring equipment, they will have to present proof of a recent medical examination.

Mail check and medical examination papers to: Coach Chuck Gordon, Westland John Glenn High School, 36105 Marquette, Westland, 48184. Telephone Coach Gordon at 595-2300 for further information.

Wayne weathers storm to win final 2 in GL-8

If Wayne Memorial can continue to do the expected, as the Zebras did a week ago, Coach Jim Chronowski may just get a prolonged baseball season.

Chronowski, intolerable when it comes to losing — viewed from his strategic point as his minions clubbed Taylor Center and handed Dean Muray his first loss of the league year, 11-4 on Wednesday.

Wayne also jolted Wyandotte 4-2 to lift its over-all record to 9-10, one short of a .500 season. But they're 8-6 in the Great Lakes 8 Conference where a 12-1 Taylor Truman has clinched the championship.

Consequently, all that is left in the league is make-up games. But if the Zebras can maintain the momentum they may do well in the playoff.

Wayne had a date with Ann Arbor Huron on Tuesday to see which would get the berth for the Class A District Tournament to be held at Belleville on Friday. Originally, the Wayne-Huron game was scheduled for last Friday, but the rains made sure that the two teams would rest.

Taylor Center gave its ace pitcher, Muray, a four-run bulge, scoring twice in the first and third innings, but Wayne broke loose and whacked the Ram hurler down with five runs in the bottom of the third, enough to win this one, then got some insurance in the form of a four-run fourth and two more in the sixth.

Let's go to that big Wayne third inning: Roger Breeding opened it up by working Muray for a walk, then Greg Kozup sacrificed him to second and Mark Zeroni's single produced the Zebras' first run.

Spartan dynasty continues

Cherry Hill retains title for 5th successive year

The kind of season Dick Gordon had in track for some coaches is "a once in lifetime deal".

In his inaugural year as Cherry Hill's head track coach, Gordon guided his Spartans to a perfect 10-0 record and capped the undefeated season off with the Tri-River Conference title.

It was the fifth year — not fourth as recently reported — that the Spartans have won the coveted conference title.

The Spartans also stretched their incredible conference winning streak to 43 — the longest Class A streak in the area, if not the state.

"A lot of coaches wait a long time to field a team that has an undefeated season," Gordon said. "I feel very fortunate in that we had some super kids and athletes who worked very hard all year long to reach their goals."

Gordon, who has been around the Spartans as an assistant coach for several years, assumed the head coaching job at the beginning of the season when veteran mentor Joe Grasley decided to bow out.

The defending champs scored points in every event en route to their victory at Garden City West last week.

Not only did Cherry Hill march away from Garden City West with the team championship, but the Spartans managed to pick up seven of the 16 first place awards.

Cherry Hill's Mike Michno, who is a junior, accounted for two of those seven victories. He beat teammate, Ramon Lara to the wire in the mile run, then lunged across the finish line to nip Garden City West's Ken McKenna for the gold in the half-mile.

Michno's winning time was one-hundredths of a second (2:04.0) better than McKenna's.

With about 20 minutes rest, Michno was back on the track for the 2-mile run where he settled for third best. There was one consolation in his loss — teammate Lara won the event with a 10:07.0, outdistancing Kennedy's Ouellet.

Cherry Hill also won the 120-yard high hurdles with Bob Norwood who coasted to victory on a 15.1 performance. Teammate Tom Minor became the champ in the lows with a 39.7 effort.

Coach Gordon put together a 440-yard relay team made up of Ivy Gregory, Jim Eiben, Randy Fredericks, and Pierre Hudson who didn't find suitable challengers. The Spartans won the event in 45.6.

The Spartan mile relay team won the conference title with a foursome of Tom Minor, Ken O'Day, Bob Norwood and Darryl Gallant who posted a 3:33.1 in winning the gold.

Strong finish enables Glenn to run away with track crown

"There isn't a single place where we can say if we did this or that it would have made the difference, but we needed to win the close ones and it just didn't happen."

"And Glenn's victory didn't shock us, after all, they beat us in a dual meet. We knew that there was a possibility that they would go all the way," Holmes conceded.

Glenn and Franklin, along with all the rest of the Class A regional qualifiers, will travel to Flint on Saturday to compete in the state finals. Class B qualifiers will be traveling to Grand Rapids.

Glenn's Greg Houfley was the only member of the Rocket squad to win an individual event. The 17-year-old senior captured a gold medal in the long jump for his leap of 20 feet, 9 1/2 inches. Teammate Ed Hamel was runner-up in the event.

The Rockets own the best 880-yard relay team in the league thanks to Scott Thornton, Tim Hobbins, Bennett Clemons, and Dan O'Brien who beat the foursome from Franklin for the gold medal. The Westlanders turned in the winning time of 1:33.2, while the Patriots, represented by Paul Snider, Paul Berry, Don Cavis and Andy Dankovic were clocked in 1:34.0.

Basel shuffled his line-up for the 440-yard relay, using Hamel instead of Hobbins with the trio of O'Brien, Clemons, and Thornton, and the Westlanders beat out North in a "photo finish." The two teams had identical times (45.3), but the officials gave the victory to the Rockets.

Dankovic was one of three double gold medal winners. The Franklin senior proved he was the best hurdler in the meet by winning the highs in 15.3, nipping Glenn's Brad Jennings who was one-tenth of a second behind with a 15.4.

Miller also gave Dankovic a run for the money in the lows. Both runners were clocked in 40 seconds but the Franklin hurdler got the victory and the gold.

Franklin also won the half-mile run with Jeff Reich who covered the distance in 2:00.6.

There were two new records established in the league. Ken Korym's toss of 165 feet, 4 inches was a record in the discus, and the Thurston senior came back and placed the shot at the 50 feet, 1 1/2 inch mark for his second gold.

Paul Babits' leap of 14 feet in the pole vault eclipsed the previous best of 13'3".

Taylor Center, Bruins bow to surging Wayne

Mark Korte, the winning pitcher, singled Zerona to third, and Zerona scored on an error.

League-leading hitter, Skip Walker, walked, bringing Bob Nutt to the plate. Nutt singled in Korte and when Ray Layton's infield hit was misplayed, it allowed Walker and Nutt to score.

Korte ignited the fifth inning four-run surge when he got aboard on an error and raced to second because of a throwing miscue. Walker then sliced a single — he has now hit safely in 11 consecutive games. Layton singled home Walker and Ed Turbeville doubled in Joe Guetta, who was put in to run for Layton.

Breeding's single accounted for the last run of the inning.

Singles by Nutt and Guetta drove in Lanczki and Walker, who were safe on an error and walked respectively to account for Wayne's sixth inning runs.

Korte pitched the first five innings, struck out four and walked two for his second victory of the campaign, while Murray lasted 4 and one-third innings in digesting his first loss.

Zerona blanked Wyandotte for six innings before giving up two runs in the top of the seventh in Wayne's 4-2 triumph over the Bruins. He struck out seven but also allowed six batters to reach base on walks.

Rich Baker went the distance for the losers. He served up five hits, fanned seven and walked one.

Layton lashed a run-scoring single, chasing home Korte who was safe on a two-base error to give Wayne a 1-0 bottom of the second lead. The Zebras added two more runs in the third when Guetta was safe on an error, stole second, and scored when Walker singled. Nutt's double brought Walker home.

With one-away in the fifth, Walker tripled and scored when Nutt popped up to second. Walker's fake forced the infield to make a quick move and he wound up throwing the ball away, giving Walker ample time to waltz home.

Last 2 are sweet for Cherry Hill '9'

Coach Ken Mientkiewicz' Spar-

Tolson picks up 2 titles

As he has done during the entire season, Doug Tolson came through with a pair of sterling performances in the distances to provide the lone ray of light for Wayne Memorial during the 1979 Great Lakes 8 Conferences track & field championship.

Tolson, one of the finest prep distancemen in the state, turned in a 4:26 for the mile and ran a slow 10:00 for the 2-mile in weather better fitted for swimming than for track.

The 17-year-old soon-to-be a senior has turned in a 9:14.0 earlier in the season for the two-mile, a feat that established him as one of the premier runners in the state for the event.

Despite Tolson's dazzling performances, Wayne could do no better than fourth place in the league which led Coach Ernie Righetti to say he was disappointed at the over-all performance of his team.

"This is the worst finish for a team I have coached since taking over five years ago," Righetti said. "Inexperience broke through and really caused this team the problems it had."

"Also I think one of the reasons why we performed so ineffectively at the league meet was that going into the finals we knew we didn't stand a chance to win it and therefore the letdown."

The only other Wayne medalist was Mark Michalowski who was second in the quarter-mile.

Undefeated Monroe was forced to hand over a share of the conference title to Fordson, a team that finished first at the league championships.

The league title is decided by a point system that includes both the dual meet record and the team finish at the conference meet.

tans jolted title-contending Garden City West 2-1 behind Jerome Potvin's three-hit pitching gem, and ended the campaign with a come-from-behind 7-3 triumph over Dearborn Heights Crestwood last week.

The two victories boosted the Spartans to a 6-8 final Tri-River Conference mark and left them holding an 8-13 won-lost over-all record for 1979.

Despite the two last-game wins, Mientkiewicz said he "was disappointed with the season."

"We were beaten seven times by one run," the Spartan mentor pointed out, "and we committed a whole bunch of errors. I felt we were a better fielding ball club - but the facts don't show it."

"Yes, I got to say that I'm disappointed with the year."

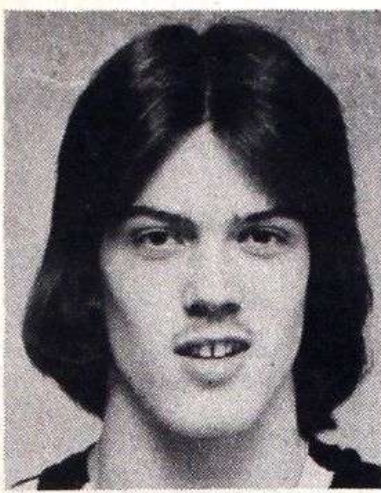

Potvin had the job to stop West, a powerhouse in the league. He outdueled Doug Boston who gave up six hits, struck out four and walked four in taking the loss. In raising his record to 3-4, Potvin fanned five and walked three.

Boston got into trouble early as he walked leadoff batter Brian Hewitt in the first inning, and issued a walk to Dave O'Koney after Ted Salvadori had sacrificed Hewitt to second. Then, with runners on first and second, Bill James came through with a run-scoring single.

West tied it up in the sixth, making it a one-all ball game, but the Spartans came back in the bottom of that inning to put the winning run on the scoreboard. In that inning, with one-away, James singled and raced to third on Mark Friar's double. Boston intentionally walked Pat Sasseen to load the bases, but gave up a sacrifice fly to Potvin which stood up as the winning run.

Two 2-run homers lifted Cherry Hill past Crestwood in the season curtain-drawer for the Spartans. Crestwood got to "hard luck" hurler

PAT SHERIDAN

Sheridan selected all-MAC

Pat Sheridan, whose batting and fielding three years ago helped Wayne Memorial win the Great Lakes 8 Conference baseball championship and reach the semi-finals of the Class A state championship, was named this week to the All-MAC baseball team.

Sheridan, a junior at Eastern Michigan University posted a .332 batting average for the Hurons this season.

The 20-year-old outfielder also ranked second in runs scored with 47, third in doubles (he had 14) and third in the number of stolen bases. He had 29 thefts.

Also named to the outfield are Mike Echstenkamper, a junior from Ohio, and Jeff Kenaga, a senior at Western Michigan University who hails from Dearborn Heights.

The second team line-up carries the familiar name of Brian Stemberger who was picked as a short stop. Stemberger prepped at Plymouth Canton.

The team was selected by the head coach in the mid-American Conference.

Tigers to host championships

This could be Belleville's year in Suburban 8 track

This may be the spring of discontent for many coaches, but not for Dave Medley.

Medley and his Belleville Tigers have amassed a perfect 3-0 Suburban 8 Conference record and the young track coach also feels that his team could possibly wind up with its first conference title.

"But there are a lot of 'ifs' attached to that," Medley pointed out. "We didn't meet Dearborn, Edsel Ford or Trenton - the three strongest teams in the league - because of inclement weather."

"I figure that if - (and there's the first 'if') - Salem can knock off Dearborn in the field events and if - (there's the second one) - we can pick up the larger share of points in the running events, we possibly could win the championship."

On Wednesday, at 7 p.m. Medley will have the answer. He and the Tigers will host the 1979 conference championships and the Belleville mentor sees Dearborn and not defending champ, Edsel Ford, as the team they definitely must beat.

"This is our best possible chance to win the title since we joined this league," Medley predicted.

With Mike Sampson turning in a double victory, Belleville dumped Bedford 93-39 in an out-of-league meet last Tuesday. Sampson won the long jump (19'11") and the high jump (6'2") competition.

The Tigers came back on a chilly Thursday to subdue league rival, Livonia Bentley, in an abbreviated meet, 65-34. The final four events were called off because of rain and inclement weather.

"We didn't want to risk getting anyone injured," Medley said.

Medley will take one of his team members, miler Bob Oakley, to the state finals on Saturday at Flint Northwestern. Oakley qualified out of the regionals at Adrian.

Meet results: Belleville 65, Livonia Bentley 34

Rains dampen action at Flat Rock Speedway

Mother Nature doused Flat Rock Speedway for two days in a row and forced the postponement of the Twin 100's Saturday night.

The raindate was to be Sunday, but a wet and very muddy infield has shoved the Twin 100's to Saturday night, June 9.

Over 25 ARCA National Championship Stocks are expected on June 9. Many of the stars of Daytona compete in this division.

The Late Model field is also expected to bring in over thirty entries for this event.

'Old' golf partners grab Canton lead

Bruce Watt and his "old partner", Bill Lindley, have teamed up again this year in the Canton Parks and Recreation League and the defending champs have taken up where they left off a year ago.

Watt and Lindley swept five points from Eugene Hammond and Dave Lyndrup to remain atop of the standings with a total of 14 1/2 points, a mere half-point cushion, however, over surging Merph Eminger and Charlie Sheets.

Eminger and Sheets kept close on the leaders' heels by taking five big ones from Sam Natoli and John Mogelnicki.

Bob White turned in the best round of the day as he fired a 39, two under par at Canton Fox Hills Golf Course. Mike Ryan, the second half of the team, along with their rivals, Tony Valenti and Dick Kraft, also turned in with 41s.

Here are the standings after three weeks of competition: Watt and Lindley, 14 1/2; Eminger and Sheets, 14; Ryan and White, 12; Canning and Young, 11; Demars and Martin, 11; Oberhelman and Mattingly, 10; Blumenshine and Flower, 10; Natoli and Mogelnicki, 9; Koers and Koers, 9; Ackley and Stuebben, 7 1/2; Ponte and Seewald, 7.

Trailing the field are Draft and Valenti, 6 1/2; Hoffman and Yuchas, 6 1/2; Glover and Shirk, 5; Slade and Moracz, 4 1/2; Rehberg and Riggs, 4 1/2; Koersel and Lawrence, 4; Logsdon and Logsdon 3; Johnson and McGee, 1; and Lyndrup and Hammond, 0.

Last week's scores: Ryan and White 5, Kraft and Valenti 0; Blumenshine and Flowers 3, Ponte and Seewald, 2; Slade and Moracz 3, Shirk and Glover 2; Watt and Lindley 5, Hammond and Lyndrup 0; Young and Canning 4, Lawrence and Koersel, 1; Sheets and Eminger 5, Natoli and Mogelnicki 0; Riggs and Rehberg 3 1/2, Mattingly and Oberhelman 1 1/2; Hoffman and Yuchas 3 1/2, Ackley and Stuebben 1 1/2; Koers and Koers 4, McGee and Johnson 1; Martin and Demars 5, Logsdon and Logsdon 0.

2 remain undefeated in women's softball

Though Jack's Sports is slaughtering all of its rivals, the two teams that have emerged from the first couple of weeks of competition with untainted records are the Bee Jay's and perennial power, J & D Auto Parts.

Jack's dropped two quick ones but has come back to bomb the Big Boys, 27-1, rough up Burghuff Bar 24-2 and win a seven-inning 12-2, decision over winless Unistrut to lift its record to 4-2 in the Wayne Women's Softball League.

Meanwhile, the Bee Jay's and J & D have a handle on first place. Each has won all five of their games.

Bee Jays buried Dino's 30-0 as Mary Porter twirled a one-hitter. She lost her bid for a rare no-hitter when Jonelle Davis sliced a harmless single.

After scoring seven runs in the first inning, the outcome of the game was never in doubt. The winners put five more runs on the board in the next inning, picked up six more in the third and scored 12 in the fourth before Dinos' gave up.

Carol Sotola batted in four runs with a pair of singles, double and triple, while Tomja Rumble hammered a homer and single for three RBIs. Sharon McMasters checked in with three singles for the winners.

J & D had its problems against Taste Freeze who put up a battle before losing a 4-1 decision to the undefeated league co-leaders.

Taste Freeze hurler Lana Burnie gave up a second inning run, but her teammates managed to tie it up in the fourth. However, J & D broke the deadlock with a 2-run fifth and added one more run in the sixth.

Winning pitcher Mary Martel was touched with three hits, one of those a double by Burnie. Podogorny and Thornsberry got the other two - both singles.

Sue Johnson came through for the winners with two hits that produced two runs and Stapleton sliced a single and double. Bassette tripled and singled for the winners.

Cullin has super rookie year

Franklin wins Northwest title

Aguzzi looked unbeatable in the opener. He allowed a Southgate runner to reach third in the first inning then pitched out of trouble and almost flawlessly to his third win in six starts. He also notched 10 strikeouts and walked four.

Franklin erupted for four runs in the first inning as Herb McManaway tripled with bases loaded, chasing home Gary DeYonker who had singled, Jim Kuzara who had walked, and John Mazur who was awarded first base after being hit by a wild pitch. McManaway eventually scored the fourth run in the inning on an error.

The frosting was applied in the sixth when Jeff Sergison sliced a leadoff single, moved to second when Steve Droz got a base hit, the two then pulled off a double steal and, after DeYonker walked, Kuzara came through with a two-run base hit.

Franklin blew leads of 2-0 and 3-2 in fading in the nightcap. DeYonker, called in to relieve starter Sergison who worked the first three innings, was charged with the loss.

In the top of the third the Patriots grabbed a 2-0 lead as DeYonker walked, went to second when Jon McCarthy was safe on an error, but Gary was erased attempting to swipe third. Doug White then walked, as did McManaway to load the bases.

Kuzara then hammered a single, scoring the two go-ahead runs.

But Aquinas tied it up in the bottom of the inning only to have the knot broken in the seventh when Dave Rettig hit a bases-loaded sacrifice fly to drive in the Patriots' final run.

Two unearned runs led to DeYonker's and Franklin's demise in the last inning.

The Livonians will carry a 17-6 over-all record and the Northwest Suburban prestige into the pre-districts.

Cullin, an assistant coach until this year when he replaced Ron Hellier, said that "the scouts (pro scouts) have been driving us nuts."

"We have a lot of talent on this team," Cullin said, "and we have attracted a lot of scouts to our games. Like I told these kids at the beginning of the season, if there is a weak link in our team it isn't the players, but their coach."

The sez modesty doesn't pay off in winning dividends.

Cage clinic

Teach them when they're young and they'll be good when they're older is an ancient philosophy which Romulus High head coach Rod Hanna apparently is putting to good use when it comes to basketball. Hanna, (at right with pad in his hand) instructs a large group of 85 youngsters between the ages of 8 to 12 at his third annual cage clinic, co-sponsored by the Romulus Parks and Recreation Department. The Eagle mentor has ample assistance from Coach Bill Baum and members of the Romulus High varsity squad who are in the background (above) drilling kids in the skill of dribbling. Some 135 boys took part in the clinic which ended on Saturday.

2 women's softball teams undefeated

Jack's and Unistrut exchanged two runs apiece in the first inning, then Jack's scored six unanswered tallies in the fourth and capped it with four runs in the seventh en route to a 12-2 victory.

Jane Winfield and Stella Marciniak paced Jack's attack with four hits between them, while Prieststadt double in two runs and Stone and Starrs singled in runs.

Winning pitcher Marchiaiak gave up seven hits, two to Pat Murphy who drove in one run, and a run-scoring triple to Sue Bertoville. Ackerman, Cieber and Smith each singled for the losers.

Gowland and Laframbois both hit for the "cycle" as Jack's trounced Big Boys 27-1 earlier in the week. Winning pitcher Pat Bledsoe gave up seven hits and lost the shutout when the losers put a run on the scoreboard in the first inning.

Gowland collected three singles, a double, triple and round-tripper for 5 RBIs, and Laframbois had a pair of singles, double, triple and chased home six runs.

Olson contributed two hits, including a triple, and had three RBIs. Bledsoe helped her own cause with two singles and Manning belted two hits and three RBIs.

Backed by a 14-hit attack, pitcher Mary Sens turned away Unistrut 13-2 as Jake's Lounge posted its first win of the season against four losses.

Jake's scored in the first inning, getting three runs, then added five in the third and four more in the fifth to put it away. Cindy Perusse latched on to a single and double that scored three runs and Harrison. Gable and Sens each had two hits.

Unistrut received two hits from Mackey while Groves, Ruffing, Beye and Bertoville each had singles.

Spartans end season with 2 big victories

Rick Searcy for single runs in the second, third and fourth innings to take a 3-0 lead which stood up until the sixth.

In the sixth Cherry Hill tied it up when Searcy led off with a walk, moved to second when O'Koney walked, then James drilled a single, scoring one run. Friar fanned and Sasseen walked, loading the bases.

Potvin's key single chased home two runs to tie the game.

In the seventh, the Spartans got a pair of homers - one by Friar with James aboard that cleared the right centerfield fence; and the second HR was Searcy's who sent the ball over the center field fence and drove in Hewitt. Brian had singled.

Hewitt finished the season-ending game with two hits in four trips, while James had three hits for four, including an RBI and two runs scored, while Friar and Potvin each had two hits.

Searcy had previously lost four games because of his mates' poor fielding. He pitched a seven-hitter, struck out four and walked five for his first victory.

Tom Brown is Tartar tanker now

Wayne State University, coming off of its most successful season, has taken steps to assure another great year in swimming.

Coach Steve Sauer has six All-Americans returning and has signed 11 new recruits, including ex-Wayne Memorial great, Tom Brown.

Brown, a top-notch freestyler, led Coach Jim McPartlin's Zebras to two consecutive Great Lakes 8

Conference title. One of Brown's arch-rivals, Neil Kellar, a breast-stroker from Fordson, will also be joining the Tartar pack.

Sauer is heading into his fourth year with the Tartars and is coming off of an outstanding 12-5 dual meet season and a ninth place finish in the NCAA Division II Swimming & Diving Championships which were held last March at Northern Michigan University.

Carol Wilson is May bride of Gary Peterson

Double ring vows between Carol Elizabeth Wilson of Belleville and Gary C. Peterson of Hinsdale, Ill. were solemnized May 5 at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Ypsilanti.

The six o'clock rite joined the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wilson of 42615 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Peterson of Sawyer in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Sidney S. Rood presided at the spring rite before an altar appointed with white snapdragons, blue iris, white carnations and baby's breath. Hurricane candles adorned with ferns and satin ribbons were used in the aisles.

Organist Alice Vanwambeke accompanied the bridegroom's sister, Laurie Peterson, as she sang "Evergreen."

Escorted up the aisle by her father, Carol appeared in a toe-touching gown of white chiffon over taffeta. Alencon lace formed the high Victorian collar and frosted the V-shaped illusion neckline. The lace motif was repeated on the full, cuffed sleeves and again on the mantilla veil which drifted to mid-back length. Completing her bridal finery was a cascade bouquet of silver and white roses, baby's breath and English ivy.

Susan Szalay of Dearborn was maid of honor in an orchid knit gown complemented by a bouquet of daisies and violet iris. Similarly dressed in purple frocks and carrying cascades of deep purple iris, white daisies and baby's breath were the two bridesmaids, Sue Chmura of Warren and Michele Foley of Huron, Ohio.

Mark Peterson of Sawyer carried out the duties of best man for his brother. Another brother, Brian Peterson, and Greg Seygiel, both of Sawyer, served as groomsmen.

At the reception which followed at Roma's of Ann Arbor, the bride's mother greeted the 120 guests in a formal gown of muted blues, pinks, and lavenders with a companion chiffon coat. Her corsage of silver roses was pinned at the shoulder. Mrs. Wittenberg, the bridegroom's mother, donned a yellow and green print floor-length gown on which she wore a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

The newlyweds, who will be living in Chicago, Ill., spent their 2-weeks honeymoon in Washington, D.C.

The new Mrs. Wittenberg will graduate June 8 from the University of Michigan Medical School. A Phi Beta Kappa honoree, she also is affiliated with Alpha Omega Alpha, honorary medical fraternity. She will be doing her internship at Northwestern University Hospital in Chicago.

Her bridegroom, a chemical engineer with a degree from the University of Michigan, is employed by Union Oil Company of Hinsdale, Ill.

The rehearsal dinner at Weber's Inn of Ann Arbor was hosted by the bridegroom.

Home Arts Club brings year to close at spring banquet

The annual spring banquet of the Home Arts Club of Belleville was held May 15 at Napoleon's in Plymouth. The 24 attending included four guests: Joyce Stan, Loretta Long and the incoming president Marilyn Prill's two daughters, Jan Sumner and Lori Summer.

Out-going president Betty Gott greeted the group and expressed her thanks to her fellow officers, Marilyn Prill, Toni Schwartz, Agnes Elliott, Elsie Ostrowski and Mary Kosin. Each was presented with a small basket of straw and silk flowers in appreciation for her help and support during the club year.

Mary Kosin, program chairman, thanked all committee members for their assistance in planning the interesting programs which were enjoyed during the year. Her group was comprised of Shar Tator, Avis White, Muriel Wolfe and Rhoda Chappo.

On receiving the club gavel for the ensuing months, Mrs. Prill expressed her hope for a good year to come and then thanked Mrs. Gott for her year's work by presenting her with a bud vase from the group.

New officers for 1979-80 along with

Mrs. Prill will be Frances Jobe, vice-president; Muriel Wolfe, recording secretary; Phyllis Breithaupt, corresponding secretary; Loretta Daniels, treasurer; and Charlotte Budd, program chairman.

Following the brief meeting and dinner, the group enjoyed visiting and listening to disco music.

The first session of the new club year will be held on the second Monday in September at South Junior High School. Women 18 and older in the Belleville area are welcome to become members.

Dingman-Crow vows read at Calvary Baptist Church

Couple, married in Flat Rock, plan to live in Virginia

During an afternoon ceremony May 5 at the First Baptist Church in Flat Rock, Connie Sue Leadingham became the bride of John Robert Woodau.

The Rev. Harold Clark presided at the double ring rite which joined the daughter of Mrs. Metta Leadingham of 30351 West Rd., New Boston, and the late Rease Leadingham, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Woodau of Romulus.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Dale Lemaster,

MR. AND MRS. PERRY J. DINGMAN

Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus was reserved April 28 for the double ring ceremony which joined Cathy Lynn Crow and Perry James Dingman in holy matrimony. Some 300 relatives and friends witnessed the five o'clock rite conducted by The Rev. Lonnie England.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crow of Hannan Road, Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Dingman of Expressway Drive, Belleville.

Fresh blooms in springtime colors graced the altar along with candelabras entwined with Boston ivy. Music for the occasion was played by Mrs. Sue Kahl and sung by Grover Kahl.

Approaching the altar with her father, Cathy was gowned in an A-line creation of white silesta which swept into a chapel train as she walked. The high neckline of Alencon lace accented an oval illusion bodice embellished with Alencon lace which was also repeated on the long fitted sleeves and flared cuffs.

Her silk illusion mantilla veil, edged with matching lace and satin ribbon, was cut in mid-back length. A bouquet of white silk roses interspersed with both white and pink baby's breath and tied with pale pink streamers completed her bridal ensemble.

Karen Crow of Belleville was her sister's maid of honor in a polyknit gown of soft lavender. The blouson bodice was styled with a modified ruffled neckline and tie-cape elbow-length sleeves. She tucked sprigs of white baby's breath in her hair and held an arrangement of pink, lavender, plum and white silk flowers surrounding a brass candleholder.

Identically dressed in shades of plum were the bride's three other sisters, Susan Holloper of Buchanan; Marsha Harden of Romulus, and Vicky Crow of Belleville; the bridegroom's sister, Bonnie Dingman of Belleville, and a cousin of the bride, Connie Clark of Moulton, Ala.

Six-year-old Marcie Ursiny, the daughter of the Tom Ursinys of Romulus, filled the role of flowergirl in a miniature version of the honor maid's gown. The little basket she carried was filled with silk flowers in shades of pink, white, lavender and plum.

Performing as ringbearer was the bride's 5-year-old nephew, Mark Harden, the son of the Mark Hardens of Romulus.

Dan Dingman of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, was best man heading the corps of ushers which included Bob Crow, brother of the bride, Ron Held and Randy Lancaster, all of Belleville; Nick Baymiller of Dearborn Heights, cousin of the bridegroom, and Steve Rodosalewicz of Saline.

Mrs. Crow chose for her daughter's wedding a dusty rose qiana gown and silver accessories while Mrs. Dingman selected a wrap gown of Swiss rose qiana. Both mothers were presented with cymbidium orchids to match their frocks.

Some 275 guests gathered at Fandango Hall in Taylor for the reception which followed. The newlyweds later departed for a 10-day honeymoon in Hawaii and are now making their home on East Huron River Drive, Belleville.

Cathy and Perry are both Belleville High School graduates. She is currently employed by the Ford Motor Company in Ypsilanti and he is with Dingman Electric Supply of Belleville.

The Stuart Dingmans entertained with a buffet rehearsal dinner at their home the evening before the wedding.

Quotes worth quoting...

"The worst sin towards our fellow creatures is not to hate them, but to be indifferent to them; that's the essence of inhumanity."

George Bernard Shaw said it.

Bride's brother officiates at Wittenburg-Light wedding

Laudermilk Park in Naples, Fla. was the setting May 5 for the sunset wedding of Suzanne Marlene Light and Michael Todd Wittenberg. The Rev. Michael D. Light officiated at his sister's nuptial rite at seven thirty in the evening with Skip Winter providing appropriate music for the occasion.

The bride, formerly of Belleville and now of Naples, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Light of 11025

Borgman, Belleville. Her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wittenberg of 690 105th Ave., Naples, Fla.

The young couple was given in marriage by both sets of parents.

For her wedding day Suzanne chose an ivory chiffon creation designed with a little fitted bodice and off-the-shoulder ruffled neckline. Her full, tiered skirt,

Summer reading program coming up at library

The Fred C. Fischer Public Library in Belleville is once again gearing up for its annual summer reading program. This is for children grades two through eight.

Those participating are required to come into the library to register for the program. They are expected to read a minimum of 10 books at or above grade level. This year, at least one of those books must be about a foreign land.

The library keeps a record of the books read and each child is expected to give one oral report. Those who read at least 10 books are awarded certificates of achievement at the end of the program. These certificates are sent to the schools for presentation along with the reading records.

This year, in keeping with the United Nations' celebration of children, the theme will be, "International Year of the Child - Around the World with Books."

Boys and girls may register from June 11 through June 29. The program ends Aug. 10, 1979. The workshop will be held July 11 and the final party on Aug. 16.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Enroute to work one morning recently I became engrossed in a Jimmy Launce dissertation on exercises — the kinds we can do as sitters-at-desks, drivers-of-cars, keepers-of-the-homefires, etc.

The auto-simetrics (that's MY word) intrigued me and as he described what could be done while tooling down the highway, I found myself following his instructions — lifting my head, jutting out the chin and then "chewing" away vigorously. This was all just fine (and private) as long as I was on those "back roads" into the office. But when I hit US-23, I halted the proceedings lest a fellow motorist take me for an escapee from Ypsi State Hospital.

Only minutes after I'd quit the routine, though, along came a little V-Dub with the driver (a fella) just jawing away for all he was worth — and completely oblivious to anything else. Then's when DJ Launce ended his monologue and laughingly said, "And I bet you're all doing it!"

His suggestions really made sense, though, and for all us exercise-haters it could be somewhat of an "out." For the desk crowd: push the telephone as far away as possible so that you have to reach for it; likewise the wastepaper basket. On your breaks take a few minutes to do bending and stretching routines — it not only will help relieve tension but will give that saggy tummy and tutu a little prodding. At home, reach — really r-e-a-c-h for things on top shelves, while putting the linens away, when scrubbing the tub, when tackling the pushbroom in the garage.

Eye exercises can also be done during inactive moments, the experts tell us. Roll those eyeballs, switch 'em from left to right, up and down. We have a tendency to let our eyes become extremely lazy by always turning our heads to see rather than working the eyeball itself.

It all makes sense and if, perchance, you SHOULD see some nutty-looking character on the super slab making faces, be tolerant — it could be yours truly!

Now that another month of May is committed to the annals of history, I sit and ponder ...

WAS May once the lovely, spring month that I remember? Or, as a kid, did I just luck out on May being days of wonderfully warm weather bringing a promise of summer?

This all comes to mind on a bleak, soggy, down-right nasty and cold May 24th — when once again, we had to turn the heat up!

Has there really been a rotation in the seasons as so many people seem to think? Does spring really begin on March 21st? Or should April, May and June be considered as that season; the next three as summer and so forth?

I know that as children we viewed things twice as great as they actually were but did we ever view a 41-degree, dank and windy night in late May as "spring"? Yuk!

We've some new little friends skittering around our yard here in our new digs — little Disney-like critters we never had the pleasure of watching before this. Chipmunks are our new neighbors and we've had an interesting time studying them through the binoculars as they scamper about the lawn and up and down their little basement "apartments." The coloring and pattern of their fur is really fascinating when seen through the strong lenses and their sporadic movements rather tricky to catch.

While at the kitchen window the other day, I spotted one of the family on its hind legs just working away on a dandelion puff. It would go from weed to weed and suddenly stop and either nibble away at the seeds or perhaps drink of the liquid in the stem? I'd no idea that chipmunks not only cared for the unwanted spring growth but were so very selective about which ones it DID wine-and-or-dine on.

It was a long, drawn-out process and I'm curious to know just what the little fella WAS gaining from his fuel stops. Anyone out there know?

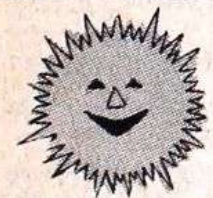

Just back from an absolutely marvelous (and different) dinner at "Maude's" in Michigan-town and we're still telling each other how much we enjoyed the change of pace.

Picked Sue up at her apartment and after the spiel of our waiter (which made EVERYthing sound super) we began with soup — huge mugs of homemade lima bean chowder for me and hot borscht dolloped with sour cream for BG; Sue abstaining in favor of a later treat.

Although the special — broiled trout — sounded enticing we'd already opted for one of Maude's salad specialties and, unfortunately, I can't remember the titles given the concoctions (something like the "Hortense" or that ilk of feminine name.) Each was very different and attractive, completely fresh and crisp and off the beaten path of the usual salads and salad bars. We also tried different dressings and they, too, were excellent. With BG now restraining himself, we two (guess you know who ran the gamut) eagerly ordered dessert — the house specialty — amaretto mousse which in one heavenly word, is DIVINE!

Six of us (my playmates, as the girls refer to them) had lunched at Maude's in April, had loved it but didn't know how our fellas would rate it. No doubt about it now, particularly if someone is looking for something lighter than the usual steak and baked potato monotony.

THE BOTTOM LINE: If Patrick Henry thought that taxation without representation was bad, he should see how bad it is WITH representation.

BPW'ers attend state confab

Eleven members of the Belleville Business and Professional Womens Club (BPW) recently attended the 61st Annual State Convention for the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women held at the elegant Hyatt Regency in Dearborn.

The theme for the convention was "Decade of Decision". Some 830 business and professional women from throughout the State attended.

Workshops, outstanding programs, business sessions, election of State officers, exhibits and awards ceremonies were held.

Bert Whitehead, administrator of Marygrove College, spoke on "Why Women Fail in Management". Esther Shaperio, Director Consumer Affairs, City of Detroit, gave some insights on "Consumerism For the Business Woman". Keynote banquet speaker, Dr. Barbara Forisha, University of Michigan-Deaorb, discussed "Outsiders on the Inside: Professional Women and Organization".

Continued support was given for the national representative, Phyllis Harrison of Royal Oak. Ms. Harrison will become the National 1st vice-president at the Business and Professional Womens National Convention in Boston, Mass., July 22-26.

An inspirational memorial service was held on Sunday morning to pay tribute to those deceased members of the 1978-79 club year.

Belleville BPW members who attended this annual function were Irene Christie, club president;

Midge Artley, Georgia Badgett, Ruth Baehr, Ruth Davis, Bonnie Pavlat, Vira Petraska, Evelyn Pullen, Margaret Saunders, Faye Sotomayor and Helen White.

The Business and Professional Women's Club continues to elevate the standards, promote the interests, bring about a spirit of cooperation and extend opportunities to all women in business and the professions.

THINKING OF BUYING A PLAYER PIANO? THEN YOU'LL WANT TO SEE THE ALL NEW PLANOCORDER

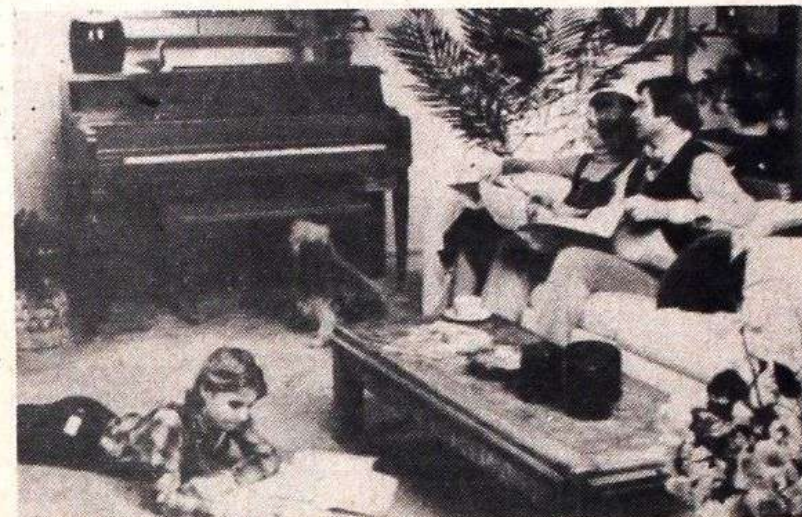

COME IN FOR A DEMONSTRATION

Imagine you and your family enjoying all your favorite music. Played by all your favorite pianists. In your own home. On your own pia . . .

That's exactly what it's like when your piano is equipped with a PLANOCORDER reproducing system. It can reproduce the world's greatest pianists performing all your favorite music. With their touch and their interpretation. For hours on end. Just slip in an encoded cassette tape and push the button. Your piano will turn any friendly gathering into a gala event.

And with a PLANOCORDER reproducing system, your piano can record you playing. Or any of your guests. Then it will play their music back. With their touch and their interpretation.

If you should have a small person (or a big one) in your home who is learning to play the piano, the PLANOCORDER reproducing system becomes a valuable teaching aid that can greatly accelerate learning.

MISS WILKS

The engagement and summer wedding plans of their daughter, Victoria Lynn Wilks, and Paul Franklin England are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilks of 16680 Wayne Rd., Romulus.

Miss Wilks is in her senior year at Baptist Park High School in Taylor where she will graduate in June. She previously attended Romulus schools.

Her fiancé is the son of The Rev. Lonnie England, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus, who will preside at the wedding. A 1973 graduate of Romulus High School, he is employed by the City of Romulus.

The wedding is being planned for Aug. 18.

BPW trio attends confab at Mott CC

An intensive Money Management Conference was held at Mott Community College, in Flint, Mi., on May 19. The conference was held for all working women in business or the professions. A great emphasis was made on consumerism and better finance management. Workshops were informative with catchy titles: "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf," records necessary for an I.R.S. audit; "Wheels and Deals," how to buy a car without a man; "Don't Take Any Wooden Nickels," know your rights as a consumer; "The High Cost of Leaving," wants and needs of funeral expenses; "Oh Give Me A Home," benefits and responsibilities and benefits of owning your home, and "Leave It As You Like It," wills and trusts.

Three members of the Belleville Business and Professional Womens Club attending the thought provoking classes were Irene Christie, president, Evelyn Pullen and Faye Sotomayor.

The program was arranged by the Office of Special Programs of the MCC in cooperation with the Negro and the Flint Business and Professional Women of the area.

Local men awarded college degrees

Northwood Institute in Midland held commencement exercises May 12 and among those earning diplomas was Michael E. Kosin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kosin of 14167 Elwell Rd., Belleville.

He was awarded a bachelor's degree in business management with minors in industrial marketing management and social sciences. In 1977 he received an associate degree in automotive replacement management.

He is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, the largest business fraternity in the United States, and is a chapter charter member of Kappa Lambda fraternity. He also is associated with Phi Beta Lambda, national business organization, and was its business functions chairman.

Kosin, who graduated from Belleville High School in 1975, resides at the Canterbury Woods Apartments in Dearborn and is presently employed by Kosin's Auto Parts, Inc. of Inkster.

Eric Siersma has a brother, Jeffrey Scott

Jeffrey Scott is the name chosen by Larry and Beverly Siersma for their new son born May 9 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The junior Siersmas, who live at 28680 Roxbury in Farmington Hills, also have a son Erik Matthew who's 2-years-old.

The newcomer arrived at 2:23 a.m., weighed in at seven pounds - 5 1/2 ounces and measured 20 1/4 inches.

Adding to their family trees are two sets of proud grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eino Leppiaho of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Siersma Sr. of Union Lake. Great-grandparent honors go to John Splan of Sault Ste. Marie; Irene Siersma of Flint and Marjorie Schmidt of Clawson.

The young Mrs. Siersma is the former Beverly Leppiaho.

Among those graduating May 13 from Purdue University in West Lafayette, Ind., was Martin Thomas Books, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Books of 45270 Sunrise Lane, Belleville. An alumnus of Belleville High School, Books was awarded a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering.

While at Purdue, he participated in and completed the University-Industry Cooperative Education Program in Engineering, working in several areas of engineering at the Ford Motor Company in Dearborn. He is now employed at Microswitch Division of Minneapolis-Honeywell at Freeport, Ill.

In September Books will enter graduate school at Michigan State University where he will work toward a master's degree in business administration.

Bronson graduate earns RN degree

A recent graduate of Bronson Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Kalamazoo is Debora Ann Nieman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Nieman of Bemis Rd., Belleville.

In the 3-year registered nurse diploma program, Miss Nieman completed two semesters at Western Michigan University taking nursing classes in obstetrics, pediatrics, orthopedics, psychiatry, operating room procedures and medical-surgical nursing.

In July she will take State Board exams in Detroit which, when passed, will license her as a registered nurse.

MISS NIEMAN

Prenatal care is important

A mother's health before and during pregnancy is of prime importance in the prevention of mental retardation. During these times, German Measles (Rubella), X-ray Damage, Meningitis, Malnutrition, RH Incompatibility and many other factors can cause irreparable damage to the unborn child. Still, approximately 30 percent of the expectant mothers in the United States receive no prenatal care at all.

Send us your wedding information

Want to share that "special day" with those who are unable to be present in person for your wedding ceremony? We'll write the details of your wedding in story form for you — and at no charge — if you'll simply follow a few guidelines.

The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman offer bridal questionnaires for you to fill out as well as engagement forms for announcing the "start of it all." These forms include all the pertinent questions involved with your marriage or betrothal.

Forms may be picked up at our office, 116 Fourth St., Belleville (we're in the old Township Hall, side entrance) anytime during the week between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

We will also mail forms if a telephone request is made. Call Lee Smith, Suburban Living Editor, at 697-9191.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Schools have a lot to offer senior citizens

When it comes to offering programs to their senior citizens, the Wayne-Westland Community School District is second to none.

"Senior citizens, officially retired or at age 65, are welcome to participate in classes without cost through the Continuing Education Center," Board Police 1331.1 reads. "The cost of any material will be waived up to the maximum of $20."

The Wayne-Westland Community

Wayne-Westland District 'avant garde' in programs

Schools adopted the board policy pertaining to senior citizen participation in school programs and Continuing Education classes with a stipulation that those participating seniors live in the school district.

Seniors are welcome to attend other school district functions without cost such as plays, musicals, athletic events. Admission to classes or events sponsored by the school district may be gained by presenting an I.D. card.

Cards may be obtained in the Election Room, Board of Education offices, 722-1500, or at John Glenn High School, Senior Citizen Program. Further information may be obtained by telephoning 728-1814.

Among some of the Senior Citizens' opportunities in the school district are — and the following programs are open to resident or nonresident — are bowling, bridge or pinochle, Decorations for "Variety of Special Events," "Personalized Car Care," "Photography and Darkroom Techniques," "Physical Education," Music-Dance & Comedy, Woodcraft, Square Dancing, Golf Instructions and Swimming lessons.

Light refreshments will be provided at all class meetings. Further information about the above mentioned programs may be obtained by telephoning Polly Malaney, supervisor, at 728-1814 or 728-1800, extension 54.

The Adults Extension Program, an integral part of the Wayne-Westland Continuing Education Program, which is located in the Mann Learning Center, 4105 Hubbard (721-8475) also has many programs available for participating seniors.

Consultation services are available through the Adult Extension Center to determine an educational program in cooperation with community agents located in the Wayne-Westland Community School District. The courses and schedules are determined by the needs of each group of clients.

Programs are offered at the various locations throughout the city and further information about the programs may be obtained by telephoning 721-8475.

At the Norris School, there is a "Daily Living Skills" class offered Thursday

Golden Hour celebrates 26th year

Many senior groups organize and disband as quickly as they organized.

But the Wayne Golden Hour Club has been around for 26 years and has stood the test of time.

"I like to feel its because the club serves an important purpose," said Audrey Tucker, who is senior citizen director. "We have a lot of things going on and our members enjoy getting together and doing things of interest."

"It is unnatural for a person to want to be 'by himself or herself' and the Golden Hour Club helps fill the void."

Club members get together Tuesday evenings between the hours of 7 to 10 p.m. to play cards, and each Wednesday, from 1 to 4 p.m., needlepointers, macramers — and other arts and crafts — are objects of occupation for the members.

Thursday it's "Potluck" Day.

"We have a beautiful and tasty luncheon followed by a pleasant afternoon of socializing, bingo, cards, dancing, billiards and some surprises," Mrs. Tucker said.

There are a couple of stipulations, however, to belonging to the club. Members must be 60 or older and a resident of Wayne.

Here are some of the other activities planned by the club for the warm summer months:

Future bright for Inkster seniors

In 1972, Inkster was selected as one city in three in the United States that had set up a comprehensive program for its senior citizens.

The pilot project was to provide as many services as possible to keep seniors from being institutionalized and, without doubt, the program has worked.

Some 2,841 persons are presently registered for services and there are presently within the city limits many apartment units designed for senior citizens.

For example, there are 197 units for seniors at the Twin Towers Apartments, and 192 at the Chateau Cherry Hill, while Thompson Tower has 300 units. Add to that the 40 units built in LeMoyne Gardens and 75 units at Demby Terraces and there are a total of 800 apartment units set aside for the elderly in Inkster.

Inkster's history in the involvement of helping senior citizens is a long and distinguished one. City officials will point out, "It is a source of pride to all Inkster residents that their city is considered a pioneer and leader in the quantity and quality of services provided its older adults."

Concerns for senior citizens problem: housing, low income, poor nutrition, health problems, insulation led the city administration to take positive steps to eradicate those problems.

Long before it was a popular cause across the country to help seniors, Inkster recognized the need to help those who had given so much to this nation.

Inkster's Housing Director and the Parks and Recreation officials developed senior citizens clubs, arts and crafts classes, planned trips and the city sought federal money to aid the elderly.

A Commission on Aging — one of the first of its kind — was organized in Inkster and C. W. (Ken) Mayerhoff was named the first chairperson of the commission. He stepped down in 1976.

An advisory board to the Commission on Aging was organized to help handle finances and to supply input for the programs. Staff was needed and hired to implement the programs.

And the future of Inkster seniors also appears bright. The city is planning another 150 apartment units in the Midlebelt and Cherry Hill area which is scheduled to open in late 1979 or early 1980.

Services such as "Outreach", Information & Referral, Health, Home Services and Counseling, along with Transportation and Nutrition continue for the elderly.

Pretty good deal

In Inkster, the "O.K. Card Club" plays an important part in the social life of the senior citizens. The group held a party during recent Elderfest festivities at Twin Towers Apartments in Inkster and gave away door prizes, table prizes and served refreshments. Snapped just before the card party got underway is this group of

Counting the cards

watches as Marjorie Frazier, director of the senior citizens program, adds up the figures while Hazel Hagerman and Miss Frazier's mother, Mrs. Marjorie E. Frazier, wait for the results in the social activity enjoyed by many people. (Photo by ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.)

County won't forget seniors

Wayne County may be mired in debt, but commissioners have vowed that "they will do everything in their power to maintain, support and promote senior citizens programs throughout the county."

The county does offer a wide variety of programs for seniors. The information about the programs comes from the Wayne County Office on Aging, David Stott Building, suite 2308, Detroit, Michigan (38226). The telephone number is (313) 224-0950.

"There are some 15 programs that we offer to our senior citizens," said Arlander Flowers, assistant director of Information and Research. "These programs vary from Out-Wayne County nutrition programs to providing speakers and bus trips."

"One of the problems we have, though," Flowers continued, "is that many of our citizens aren't aware of these programs and don't take advantage of them."

Flowers pointed out that most local governments have lists of these programs and the names of the agencies responsible for conducting the programs.

Here are some of the services offered by the Wayne County Office on Aging:

OUT-WAYNE COUNTY NUTRITION PROGRAM — Provides hot lunches, Monday-Friday at 48 different sites throughout the County. No mandatory fee, but suggested donation of 50 cents.

MINOR HOME REPAIR — General minor repairs for senior citizen homeowners. No fees.

SENIOR CITIZEN MULTIPURPOSE CENTER — Located in Westland, this facility provides a wide range of health, social, recreational and educational activities for all County senior citizens. No fees.

SENIOR DAY CENTER — Located in the multipurpose center, this Adult Day Care program provides day-long care for the frail elderly. No fees.

Despite $6 million deficit, senior programs to continue

MEDICAL LOAN CLOSET — Located in the multipurpose center, this program loans a variety of medical equipment to senior citizens who are in need. No fees.

GARDENS AND GREENHOUSE — Located in Westland, this program provides 200 garden plots and the year-round use of an adjoining greenhouse for County senior citizens. No fees.

SEMTA TRANSPORTATION — Two 12-passenger vans, one has wheelchair capability, are provided to various senior citizen groups for special day-long outings. No fees.

SENIOR BUS TRIPS — The first $100 of bus rental charges for senior citizen groups taking day-long trips are underwritten by this office. The group is responsible for the balance.

DETROIT-WAYNE COUNTY SENIOR CITIZENS INFORMATION AND REFERRAL — In cooperation with the Detroit Senior Citizens' Department, information is given and follow-up referrals are made to meet a variety of elderly needs. No fees. Note special I & R number: 963-8800 — Also a WATS toll-free number 1-800-462-5178 for out-county senior citizens. The program does have bilingual staff.

SPEAKER'S BUREAU — Speakers are provided to groups to give information and answer questions regarding programs and services which are now available. No fees.

SENIOR EMPLOYMENT PROGRAM — Job opportunities, both full and part-time, are provided to low-income senior citizens. Work sites are located throughout the County. No fees.

TELE-CARE — Provides a 5 day-a-week personal telephone contact to elderly recipients. Included in the program is a complete emergency response plan if the person does not answer. No fees. The program does have bilingual staff.

VIAL OF LIFE — This is an emergency information program which uses a container to store vital medical and personal information in one common location in all households — the refrigerator — for use in a medical crisis when an individual who is alone may not be able to communicate. No fees.

THE ADVOCATE — This is a Wayne County senior citizen newspaper which is published monthly and is distributed through nutrition sites and cooperating agencies throughout the County. No fees.

FREE PRESCRIPTION DRUGS — In cooperation with World Medical Relief, free prescription drugs are provided to senior citizens. There are no fees but eligibility is based on income.

Caring: Life in a health care facility can help resolve some problems

'Old Age is blessed,' so they say. For some citizens who have reached the age of 'Senior,' life is full of dreams come true.

But what about those who need assistance with activities of daily living, supervision of their personal or medical needs, or possibly twenty-four hour nursing care?

The day arrives when most of us realize we must accept the fact that 'mother' needs more than she or you can provide.

This happens every day and even to the best of us. Do not panic, and do not feel guilty. But, do prepare for changes in 'mothers' life and in yours. Any new location, especially for the elderly, will require an adjustment period. This period can be smooth and acceptable if everyone concerned works toward this goal.

Begin with a family conference and discuss with 'mother' her new needs. Talk openly and frankly and assure her of your attention and assistance. Discuss the type of facility and the area desired. Check the telephone book or newspaper for names and addresses. Call the facility for an appointment.

Depending on the facility, you will see either the Admission Director or the Administrator. If at all possible, take 'mother' with you. It is best if all concerned are together to be certain of obtaining all the information you desire. Relax and be comfortable. You are not on trial for murder. And no one will bite you!

You will have many questions and do not hesitate to ask. After all, this is a new experience for you. Many questions will also be asked of you, everything from your 'mother's' past and present health, foods she desires and or dislikes, as well as her financial status.

Depending upon information obtained by you and the facility, room placement can be determined. Rest assured, 'mother' will share a room, if desired, with someone whose company she will enjoy. At first, this could be difficult, depending on 'mothers' personality.

It is extremely hard to live with many new faces, in new surroundings and with just a few of her personal belongings.

You will be given a tour of the facility. As you proceed, ask questions again. You will see living rooms, dining rooms, activity rooms, clinic and or nursing stations. Depending on the size of the facility, the tour could be overwhelming.

After returning, ask for printed information, to read later. Because all policies have been explained, you could leave with medical forms that need the attention of your 'mother's' present physician.

Now that you have made one visit, check with - visit other facilities. They are different, depending upon their licensure. Observe other residents, their appearance and their attitude. Are the employees busy - do they seem happy? Is the facility clean? Did the individual representing the facility seem genuinely concerned about you? Make mental notes and compare.

Once you have reached a mutual decision, advise the facility. Have all necessary forms ready. Prepare to assist 'mother' into her new home!

This is not the end, though. A new way of life is beginning. There will be good days and bad days, happy days and depressed days. However, that is the way of life, no matter where we live or what we do. Continue to give 'mother' your support and love and realize that you are doing everything you can for her. If you question any procedure of the facility, as time goes on, feel free to ask. We are all human beings and we all need the assurance that everything is going as good as possible. And just because 'mother' needed outside assistance doesn't mean the end of the world. There are many happy, productive citizens in facilities who fulfill their wants, their needs, their love and their caring of those around them and of you, their family.

When the need arises, don't panic, don't feel guilty. Take the necessary 'step' and you will be on your way - on your way to the satisfaction of you and your mother.

Schools have a lot to offer senior citizens

evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The course will cover leisure time hobbies, social skills, hygiene habits, and communications skills.

The class is designed to help participants achieve individual goals.

Remedial academic and leisure time classes are offered with flexible starting dates at the Mann Learning Center on Tuesday and a variety of activities are planned for the mentally impaired and

The Adult Foster Home conducts adult educational services, on a group basis only, which encompasses both academic and leisure-time courses.

There are also many community agencies which help seniors reach their respective goals in education. The Bureau of Rehabilitation offers seniors a way to complete their high school education - G.E.D., Prep and Pre-Vocational classes are also offered to clients referred by the Michigan Department of Vocational Rehabilitation. The program provides a flexible starting date and individualizes educational plans.

The Canton Township Recreation Center also offers classes to senior citizens in the area at its 44237 Michigan Avenue center. Community concerns, square dancing, arts and crafts and a few other courses are available.

Several classes are offered to Senior Citizens in conjunction with the City of Westland Department on Aging at the Friendship Center and St. Theodore's Club, while the Easter Seal Society of Wayne County has organized classes on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday for those who are interested in arts and crafts, swimming, bowling, remedial academics and many other activities.

And for the clients of the Metropolitan Regional Psychiatric Hospital who wish to continue their education while hospitalized, the Adult Basic Education, Enrichment Classes and Civil Rights head the programs.

Commission on Aging gets off the ground in Wayne

Though Wayne has long recognized the need for organizing and initiating programs for its senior citizens, it was not until this year that an ordinance establishing a "Commission on Aging" was legally adopted by Council.

The commission has many functions and will bring together people with acumen who can efficiently put the many programs into practice.

Persons named to the inaugural "Commission on Aging" are: Claude Berard, Adeline Taylor, Royal Bozeman, Thomas Buckingham, Patricia Bova, James Netter, Frank Farrell, Gertrude Singer, and Muhammed Abul-Azeez.

The commissioners work on a voluntary basis and are charged with the responsibility, "to promote the enrichment of the lives of the senior citizens who reside in the city."

Other powers and duties include:

*To develop, compile and disseminate information that is necessary for the implementation of programs and services to be undertaken by the commission:

*To cooperate and work in conjunction with other departments and commissions established within the frame work of the city government, as well as with other government agencies, and community and civic groups which are conducive to a healthy, meaningful existence for the aged;

*To provide, whenever possible services to the seniors which because of either financial or physical disabilities they are not able to provide for themselves, and to assist in the creation of rewarding social and recreation programs for the aged in an enriched community environment.

The commission also will act as a "watchdog", to warn seniors of fraudulent, unethical or unfair business practices to which they might become prey as well as provide the aging with opportunities for creative self-expression and to instill in the aging a sense of dignity and self-respect so that they may consider themselves an integral segment of the community.

OAKWOOD HOSPITAL FAMILY MEDICAL CENTER: 7 Years Later

The Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center welcomed its first patient in February, 1972. Nine years and 50,000 patient visits later, the need for medical care is still just as vital in the Belleville-Sumpter Township area.

Oakwood Hospital, the largest in western Wayne County, started the Family Medical Center in Sumpter Township south of Belleville in a mobile housing unit to make available badly needed medical services to a rural area which, at that time, was virtually devoid of physicians.

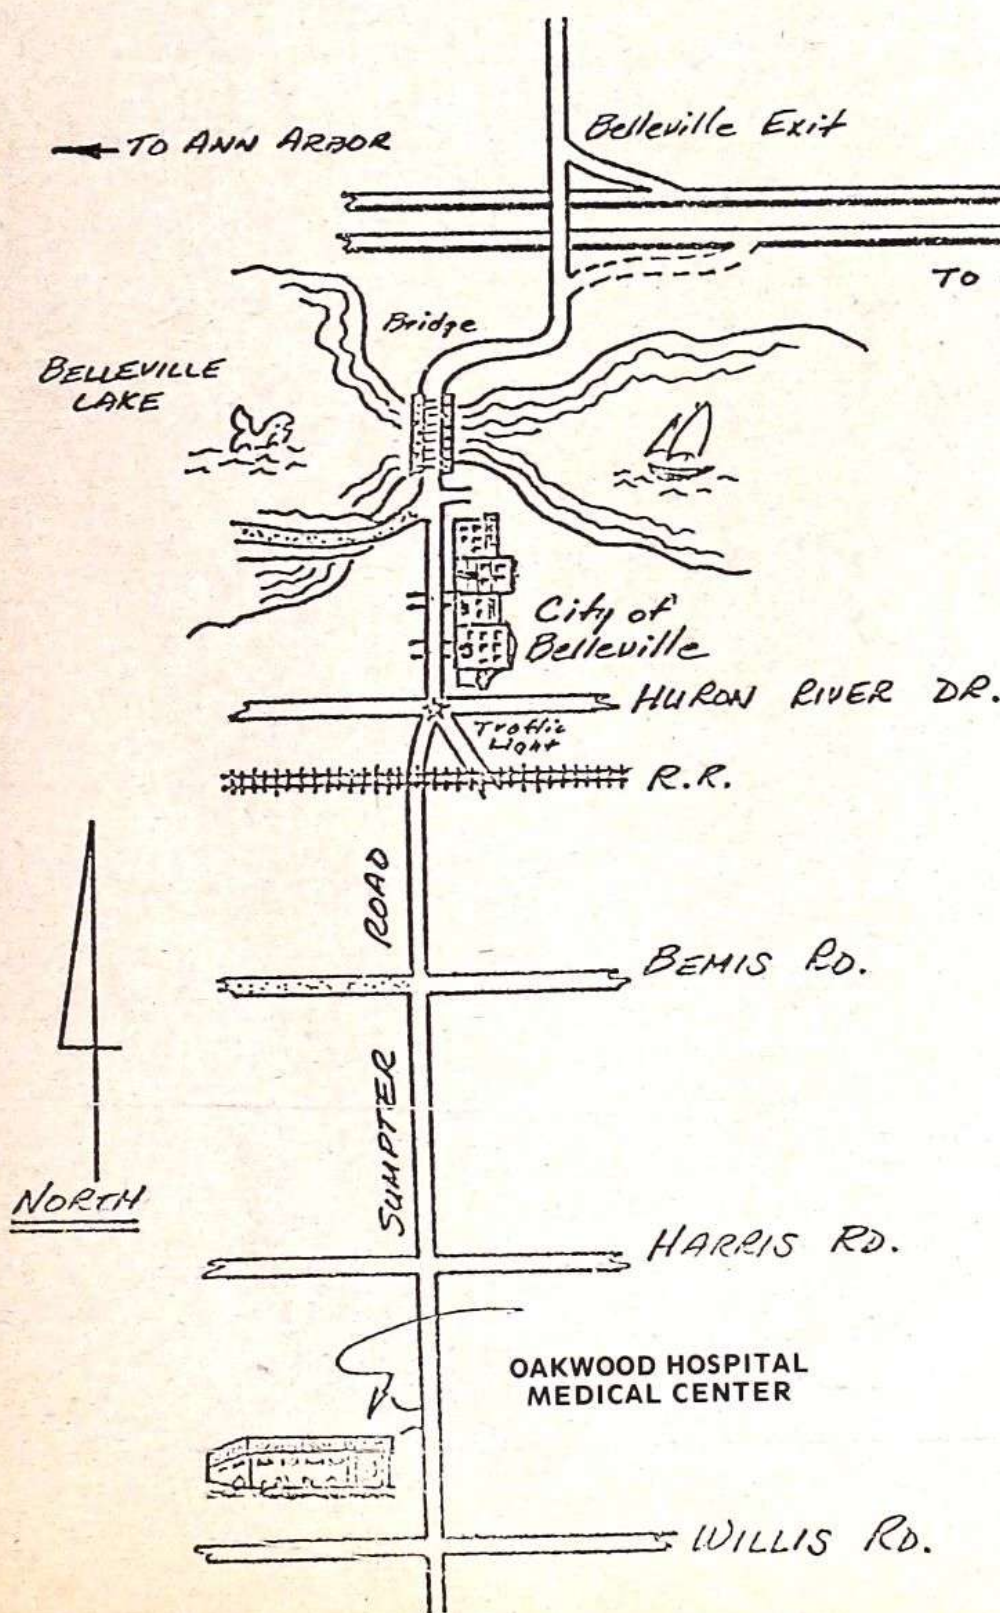

The community's acceptance was immediate and gratifying. Some 1,800 patient visits were recorded that first year. In 1973, another mobile unit was added to provide additional treatment rooms, and nearly 4,500 patient visits were attended to.

Two years later, a modern one-story facility, totaling 5,600 square feet, was built, containing 14 examination rooms, seven consultation offices, an x-ray room, laboratory, and spacious waiting and office areas.

Patient visits for the past three years have averaged about 10,000 per year. The center's staff is proud of the increasing awareness it sees in the communities' residents about the importance of both preventive and follow-up medical attention and care.

The Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center offers a complete range of medical services, including pre-natal, obstetric, pediatric, adult and geriatric care. X-ray is available as well as minor emergency

Medical Center a Matter of Pride

By GERALD D. FITZGERALD
Executive Vice President,
Oakwood Hospital

I am happy to have this opportunity through the pages of this supplement to review our accomplishments of the past and share our hopes for the future for the Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center with our friends and neighbors in Belleville, Sumpter Township, and adjoining communities in western Wayne County.

It was just seven years ago that Oakwood Hospital established the first family medical center of its kind in southeastern Michigan in Sumpter Township south of Belleville and nearly 20 miles west of Dearborn where the main 595-bed hospital is located.

The thought of delivering modern family medical care to the patients in the community where they live was a cause of pride in 1972 and continues to be so in 1979.

Originally set up in a mobile home, the Family Medical Center was wholeheartedly accepted as reflected in the nearly 5,000 patient visits within the first two years, leading to the construction of the current modern structure in 1975.

Our medical staff is able to attend to the personal and family health care needs of the patient with more efficiency and effectiveness. Annual patient visits now total about 10,000 as residents in an area once described as medically underserved have grown increasingly aware of the importance of follow-up and preventive medical care.

As for the future, we seek continually to improve the quality of our health services. This year we expect to put the finishing touches on a two-year, $8-million complex at the main hospital containing a new Operating Suite, an expanded and renovated Emergency Department, and a new Central Sterile Supply Department.

The new Emergency Department, the busiest in western Wayne County with an average of nearly 4,000 emergency patients a month, is designed to handle an ever-increasing volume of emergency medical needs.

Oakwood Hospital, which currently ranks third in the state with 4,200 babies delivered a year, has received the approval of the Michigan Dept. of Public Health to build a new obstetric suite and neonatology unit to provide, on a regional basis, a program of high-risk maternal and child health care. Construction is expected to start later this year with completion anticipated for January, 1982.

These projects and others that we have determined in a long-range study of community medical needs have as their basis our concern for the improvement of our ability to deliver quality health care at both the main hospital and the Family Medical Center.

We re-affirm our commitment to provide the highest quality medical service and care to our patients.

We re-affirm our commitment to provide the necessary facilities and expertise for the delivery of these services.

We re-affirm our commitment to take a leadership role in fostering an increased spirit of cooperation among local health institutions in developing an integrated health care system to serve the community at large.

In closing, I must acknowledge the support and cooperation of the communities of Belleville and Sumpter Township. I am thankful to the Hospital and Foundation Board of Trustees, to the Community Advisory Committee, to the administration, medical staff, nurses, employees and volunteers whose dedication mean so much to our success in providing quality health care.

Based on the strength of our past accomplishments, we feel confident of our ability to meet the medical care needs of the community. We invite your continuing support in sharing our commitment.

Center Services Health Care Needs

care. The center enjoys the resources of the main hospital's ancillary services such as the radiology department and laboratories.

Patients regularly consult with physicians about health problems in the areas of surgery, orthopedics, neurology, urology, psychology, obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics, radiology, and pathology.

A social services office gives another dimension of patient care. Among its services are assisting a patient and family in arranging post-hospital care, nursing home placement, counseling family and patient if there are personal or environmental problems, cooperating with community and welfare agencies to assist the patient, and acting as a consultant to the health care team in interpreting the patient's behavior in relation to his illness.

Everal Wakeman, M.D., director of the hospital's Family Practice Residency Program, is director of the center. Gerald Banish, M.D., is associate director, and Mark Cramer, M.D., the clinical instructor. The three, as a team, coordinate the 23 family practice physicians who are members of Oakwood Hospital's resident house staff.

Two registered nurses, an x-ray technician, two social workers, and office personnel complete the medical center's staff.

The Family Medical Center is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays; from 2 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Wednesdays; and from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays. The telephone number is 699-2094.

As a part of Oakwood Hospital's outreach program to serve the health care needs of the communities in western Wayne County, the Family Medical Center provides a much-needed source of health care.

ABOVE — The Family Medical Center, at an open house in the spring of 1978, was attended by many community representatives. Among them were Robbie Sutton (left); Rose M. Cooper; Robert K. Demski, Sumpter Township supervisor; Everal M. Wakeman, M.D., director of the center; and Berna Chenault, member of the Oakwood Hospital Community Advisory Committee. RIGHT — In March, 1977, a plaque bearing the names of those citizens who spearheaded efforts to establish a medical center in the area was unveiled. On hand were Cynthia Holmes (left), one of the citizens honored; the late Hans Koek, M.D., then associate director of family practice; and Vera Smith, first patient when the center opened in 1972.

Having a Baby at Oakwood a 'Sharing Experience'

Having a baby at Oakwood Hospital is a family affair in the truest sense.

"We try to create a sharing experience for both parents," says Virginia Snabes, R.N., supervisor of the obstetrics and gynecology department.

Strengthening the family unit is an important process that begins months before the baby arrives.

It's an approach that has proven successful. In 1978, for instance, 4,212 babies were born at Oakwood, the third highest among hospitals in the state.

"We know that's their baby," Mrs. Snabes says of the parents. "We want them to know that we know, so we try to provide a safe, happy environment."

Pre-natal classes, two hours a week for four weeks, begin the "sharing" process at Oakwood. Included is a tour of the hospital, the obstetrical department, its facilities and staff.

The father is allowed to support the mother both during labor and delivery. He may visit his wife and their newborn whenever he wants. There are no specified visiting hours for him as a member of the family unit.

Liberal visiting hours are designated for other members of the family, including brothers and sisters, if the newborn has any.

"Rooming in" is a popular optional feature of Oakwood's obstetrical department, according to Mrs. Snabes. Mother and baby stay in the same room.

A special care nursery is available by arrangements so that parents can visit, touch, hold or feed their infants.

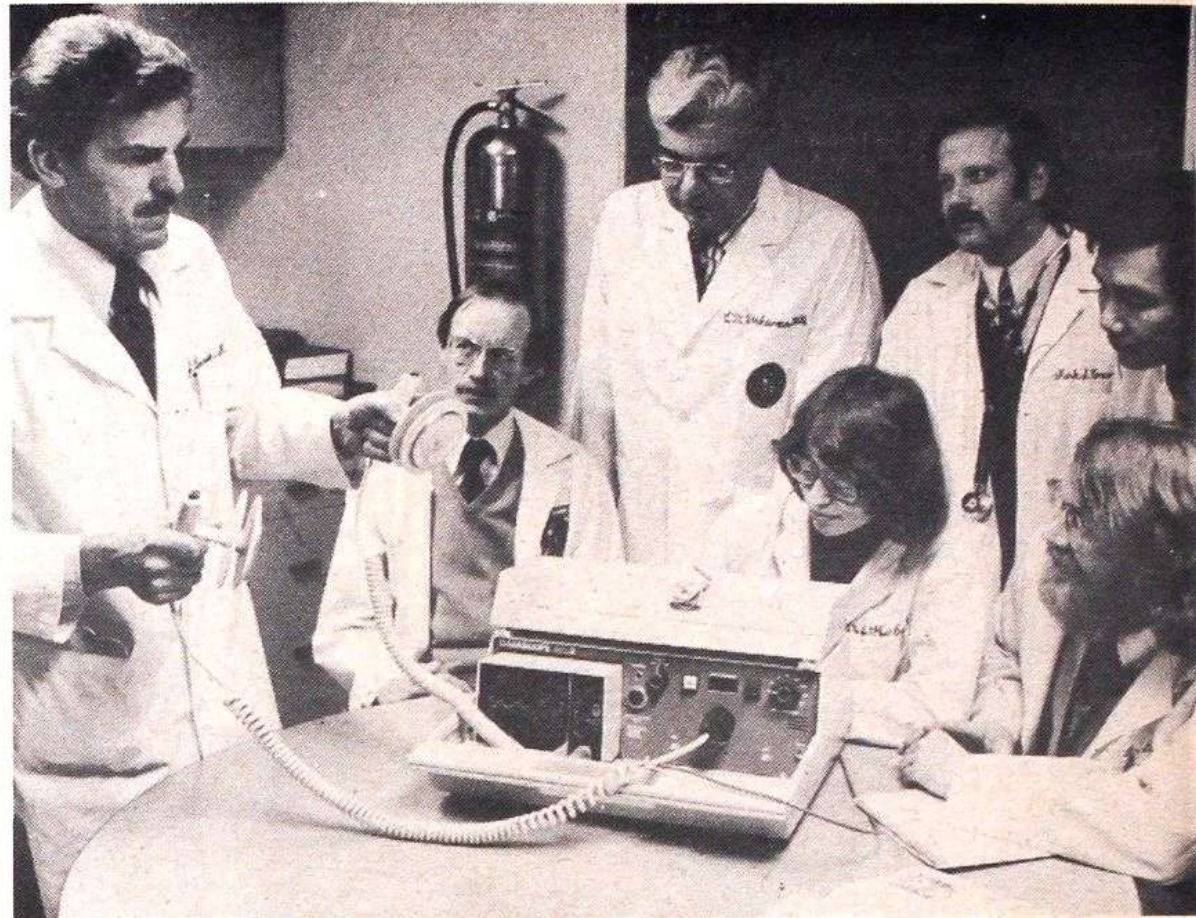

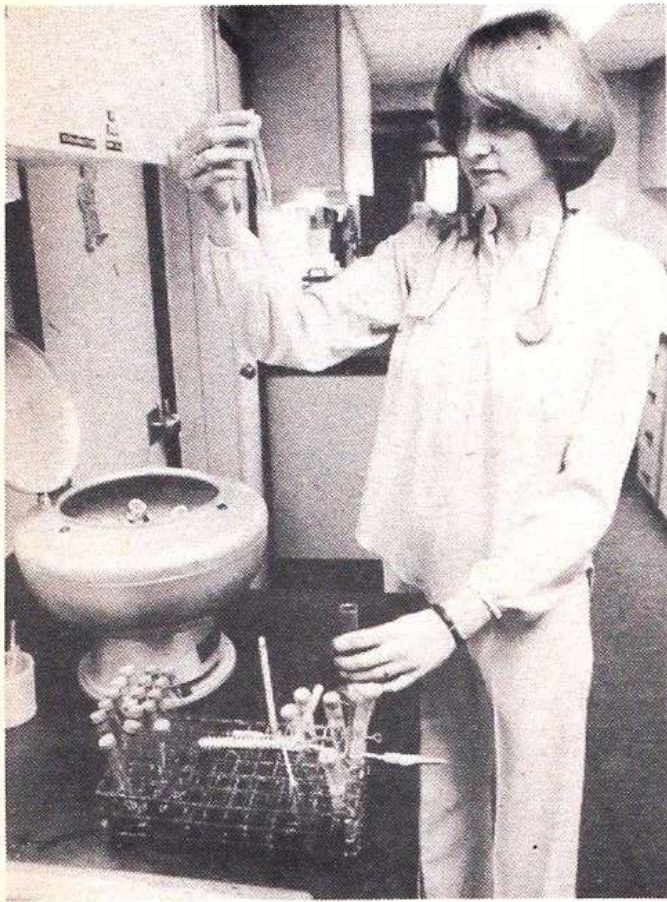

Slides and films about infant care and nutrition are shown to all mothers after delivery.

And, on the night before mother and baby are discharged, husband and wife, if they wish, celebrate the birth of their son or daughter at a candlelight dinner, complete with a gourmet dinner and all the trimmings.

A new life at Oakwood Hospital is a celebration of joy, a celebration that never ends.

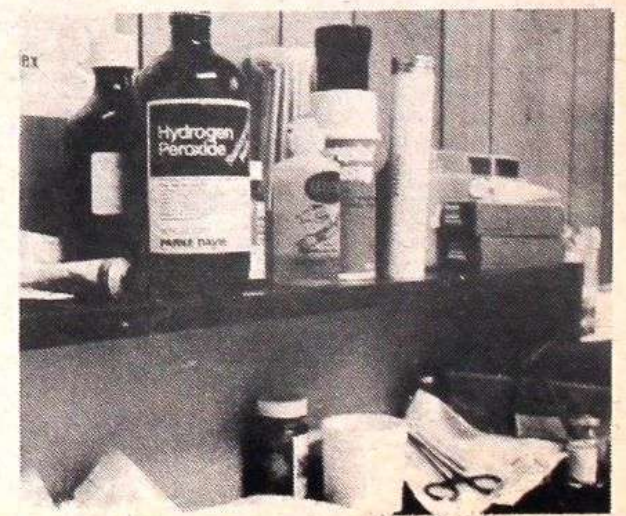

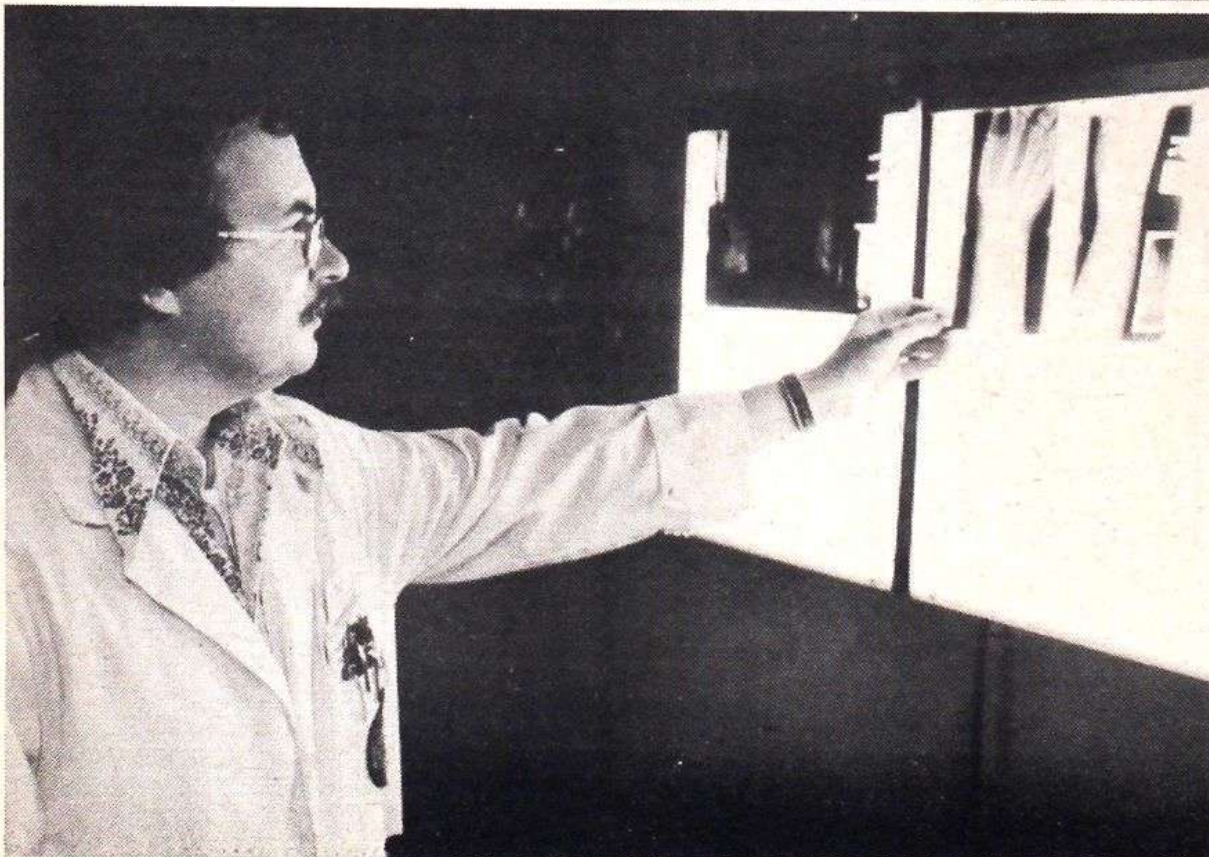

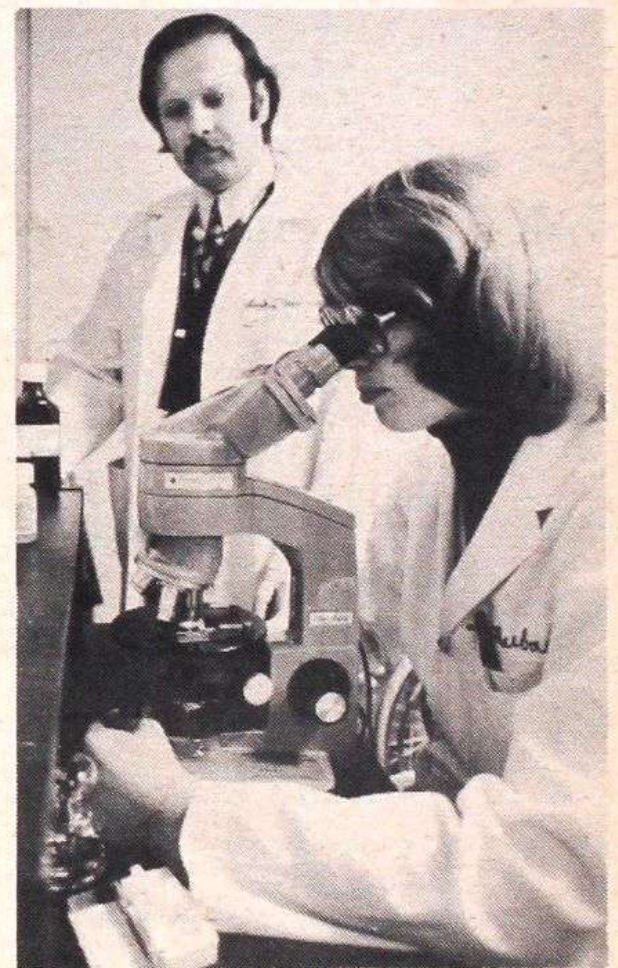

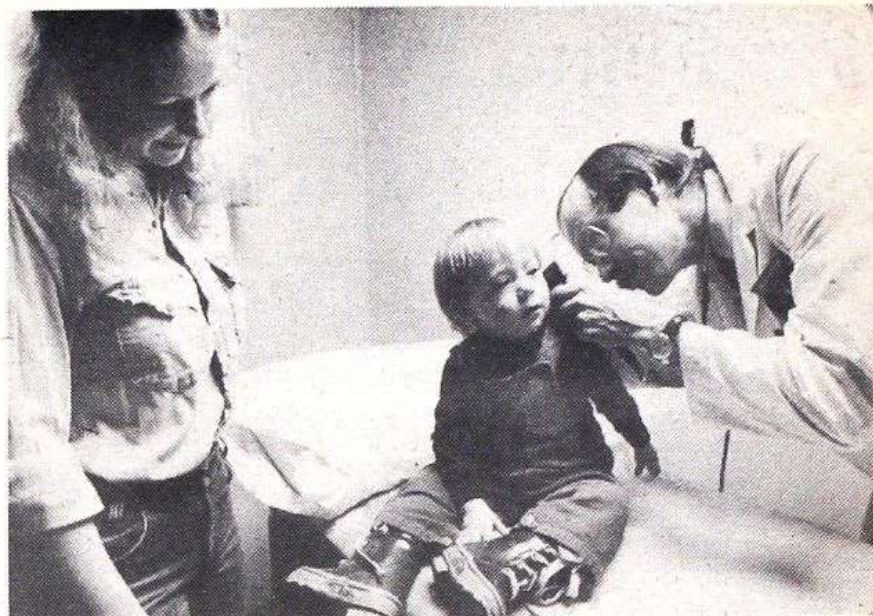

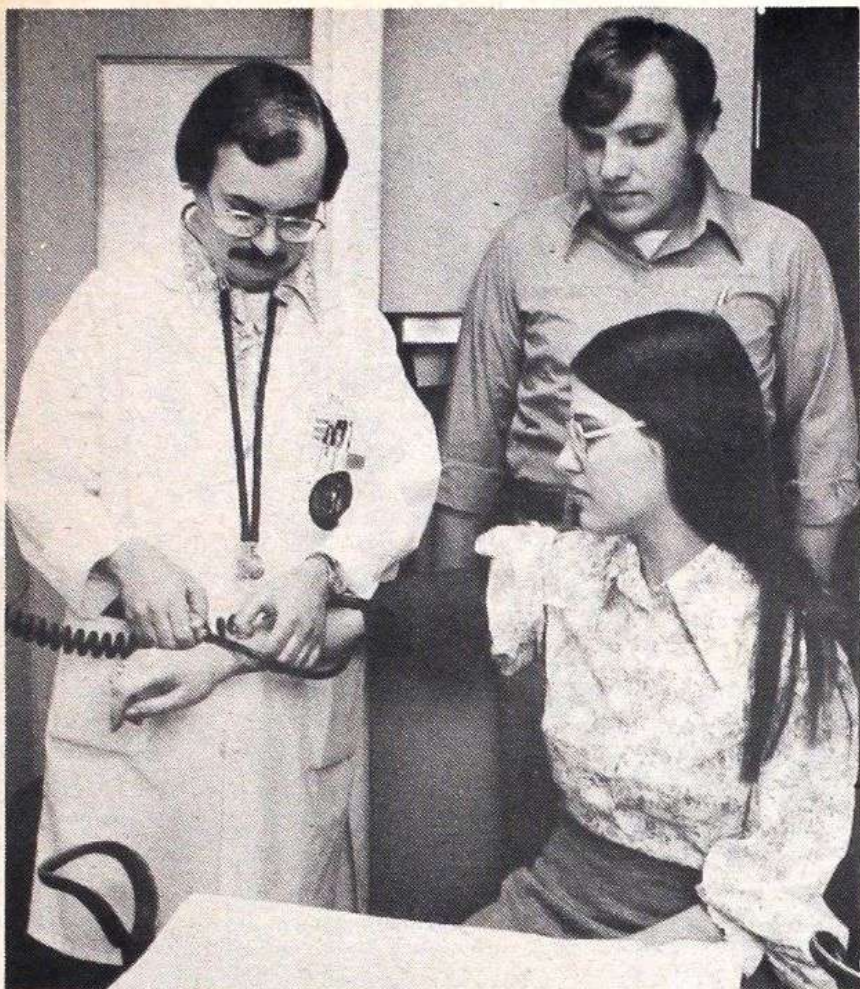

Joshua Earl Bobby, spruced up in his Oakwood Hospital tee-shirt, is the center of affection for mother, Kimberly, shortly after his birth in March at the hospital. Joshua, one of 1,200 babies delivered annually at the Dearborn facility, is the firstborn son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Bobby, of Anaheim, Belleville. Mr. Bobby is employed by Master Craft Engineering in Belleville.

Health Care a Learning Process

Providing — and learning about — patient health care is a continuing process at the Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center. Gerald Banish, M.D. (above, right), explains the workings of a portable cardiac monitor and defibrillator during one of the weekly medical staff meetings. The center's pair of registered nurses — Rose Armiak (above) and Cheryl Kaminski (right) — have ten years of nursing experience between them. Mark Cramer, M.D. (in photo far right) observes Joslyn Hubacher, M.D., in the center's laboratory. Christopher Pabian, M.D. (below) studies x-rays taken in the center's radiology room. The staff is proud of the increasing awareness it is witnessing in the community about the importance of preventive and follow-up medical care.

Checking the ears of a two-year-old-boy, taking a young woman patient's blood pressure, consulting about a course of medical treatment, or suggesting appropriate health information — family practice medicine is all of these various facets and a lot more at the Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center. Physicians regularly treat patients in the areas of surgery, orthopedics, neurology, urology, psychology, obstetrics, gynecology, and pediatrics.

Family Practice Specialist Focuses on Patient and Family

The words "family doctor" may call to mind images of the country doctor making rounds with his horse and buggy. However, the new age of Family Practice, now a specialty in its own right, is as different from that image as is the mode of transportation.

The new specialty concentrates on breadth of knowledge, not only of medicine but also of the patient. Schooled in the social and psychological aspects of health, the family specialist focuses on the whole person in his family setting.

Though it stems from the tradition of general practice, Family Practice is a new entity, born of an age which values prevention as much as critical care. The family practitioner of today must be a skilled diagnostician capable of handling the emotional as well as physical aspects of a medical problem; he is responsible for coordinating the community and medical resources he calls upon for assistance or consultation in caring for his patients; and he works to prevent as well as combat disease.

The development of Family Practice as a specialty occurred at the end of a long period of decline in general practice. Major events changed the delivery of health care. Rapid scientific and clinical advances had given to indepth study of particular organs and diseases. Educational institutions and economic factors fostered the development and expansion of such specialization.

By 1950, the family doctor, and the concept of the personal physician, was rapidly disappearing. Rural areas were the first to feel the effects of this as small communities found themselves without doctors. On the other hand, the urban patient was often at a loss trying to match his symptoms to the specialist he needed.

Leaders of the medical profession also began to recognize the disadvantages of a system saturated with specialists and short on primary care physicians. Their work culminated in 1969 with the creation of the new specialty sponsored by the American Board of Family Practice and the American Academy of Family Physicians.

The educational innovations of this new specialty are serving as a model for the medical world. To be certified as a specialist in Family Practice, the physician must complete a three-year residency in family practice. Then he must pass the board examination — not once as is currently the case in other specialties — but every six years. Family Practice is the first specialty to require a recertification exam as evidence that a physician's knowledge is current.

The Family Practice Residency Program at Oakwood Hospital was started in 1971. Currently there are 23 residents in the program. At the hospital and at the Family Medical Center, the family practice physician admits and cares for his own patients with the option of calling on a wide range of specialists recognized for their excellence. The family physician coordinates the necessary consultations and provides a vital link between the patient and the specialists he needs.

Medicine Way of Life For Center Director

Medicine has been a virtual way of life for Everal Wakeman, M.D. director of Oakwood Hospital's Family Practice Residency Program and of the hospital's Family Medical Center in Sumpter Township south of Belleville.

He marked his 40th anniversary as a physician this May.

Dr. Wakeman has been a part of the Oakwood Hospital medical staff from its beginning, including about a year before the hospital formally welcomed its first patient in January, 1953. He was one of several physicians who comprised a temporary medical staff to assist in the hospital's staff organization.

He has also been a part of the Family Medical Center from its origin, too. He was in on the planning and present at the formal dedication of the center in 1972, at the groundbreaking for the present building in 1974, and at that structure's dedication in 1975.

Dr. Wakeman sees the growth of the Family Medical Center as the community's increasing awareness of the center as a resource for treatment of health problems as well as patient education.

"It's not changing as quickly as we would like, but more and more people are coming to the center to keep from getting sick and not when they are already sick, perhaps even critically," he notes.

This emphasis on "health maintenance," as Dr. Wakeman tags it, is a source of pride to the staff of physicians at the center.

Family physicians will be the specialists of the future, Dr. Wakeman says, better trained to handle the patient, family and his total environment.

"The family physician," sums up Dr. Wakeman, "learns not only to become involved with a patient's interrelationships, but what to do with this knowledge of a person's personal life."

Center Cares for Whole Family

The Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center looks neat and modern from all appearances, but it's "really a kickback to the old family doctor days."

According to Gerald Banish, M.D., assistant director of the hospital's family practice residency program, the philosophy of the medical center serving the Sumpter-Belleville area is one of "providing care for the entire family from cradle to grave."

The physicians on the center's staff, all residents in Oakwood Hospital's Medical Education Department, are specialists in family practice. Dr. Banish's responsibility is the supervision of these residents and the level of health care that patients receive.

"Virtually a hundred per cent of all medical care needs can be met at the center," Dr. Banish says. "The family practice physicians provide a continuity of care to every member of the family. They are a kickback to the old family doctor days."

A full range of routine x-rays and laboratory tests are available at the center as well as sophisticated ancillary support services at Oakwood Hospital, the largest in western Wayne County.

Dr. Banish is a graduate of the University of Michigan and the Wayne State University Medical School. He was in private medical practice in Dearborn and an attending staff physician at Oakwood Hospital for 17 years prior to joining the hospital's staff in the Medical Education Department as an assistant director of the family practice program and of the Family Medical Center. He is certified by the American Board of Family Practice and is a clinical instructor at the Wayne State University Medical School.

Physician Back-packs Up and Down

Trails Of Nature's Wonders

It's more than seven miles to the bottom of the Grand Canyon and about 12 miles to the top of Mount Whitney.

But Mark Cramer, M.D., a clinical instructor in the Family Practice Residency Program at the Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center, has back-packed the trails up and down both of these natural wonders.

"I love to hike and to travel," says the 30-year-old physician.

Traveling is an integral part of Dr. Cramer's life. A native of Ohio who lived the early years of his childhood in Royal Oak before the family moved to California in 1955, Dr. Cramer earned his medical degree at the University of California at San Diego before returning to Michigan 20 years later to take his residency training at Oakwood.

Dr. Cramer has been in 48 states. He hasn't visited Hawaii and Alaska — yet. Walking in deserts holds a particular fascination. "My wife and I will drive our four-wheel Jeep about 15 miles into the desert and walk around for a while. It's so nice and quiet and peaceful."

Combining his interests in photography and railroads with his travels, Dr. Cramer develops what he shoots in his own darkroom and uses many photos, especially of railroad bridges and stations, to help him construct models for his railroad collection.

"Working with my hands takes my mind off medicine," he says.

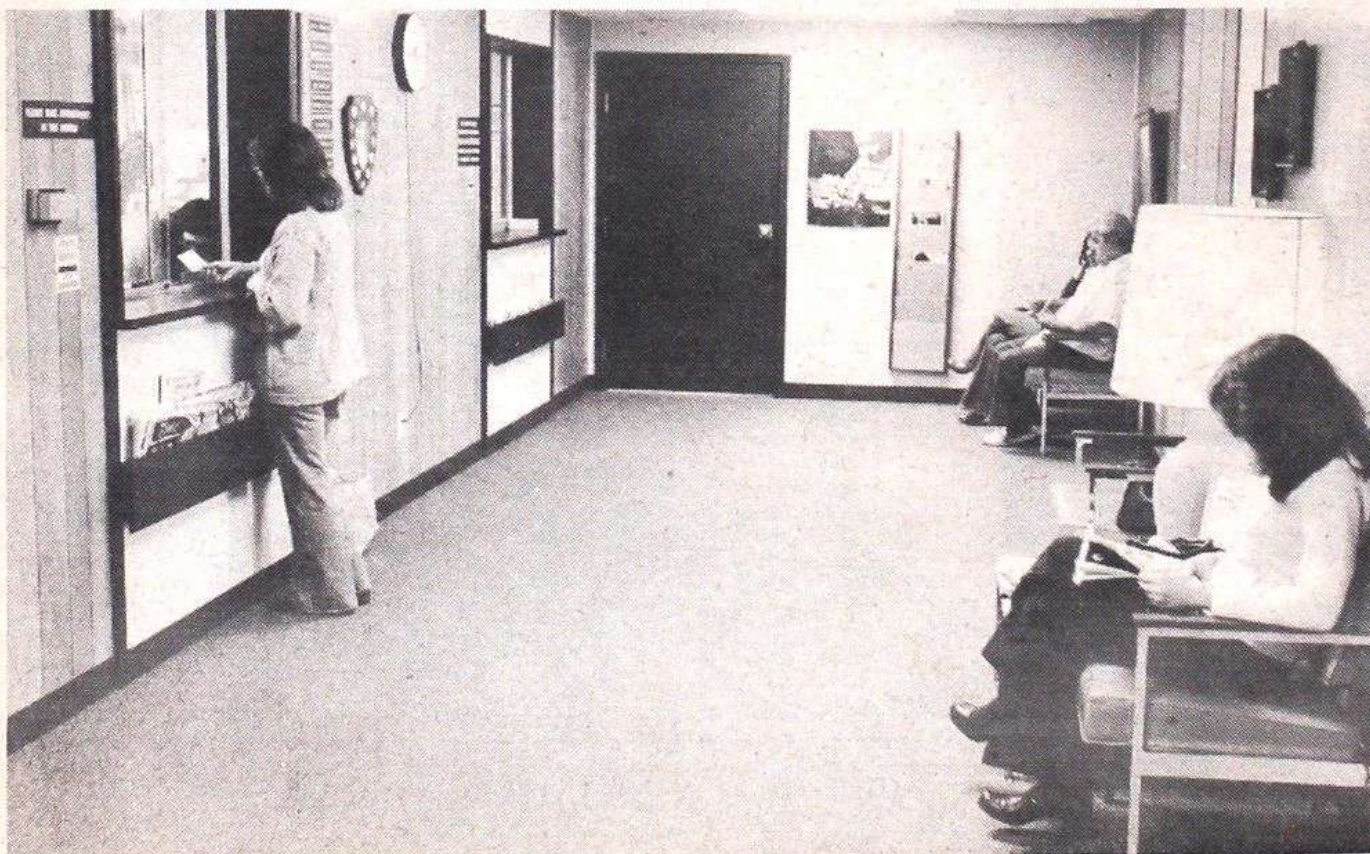

Daily, Dr. Cramer does another kind of traveling, making his rounds of patients at Oakwood Hospital. His primary responsibility is the supervision of residents, both at the hospital and the Family Medical Center.

"I'm a resource person for the residents," Dr. Cramer explains. "If they have a problem during an interview of a patient or in diagnosing a condition, then I am there to help."

Family practice is a relatively new specialty. "We get to know the entire family. They trust us. There's nothing impersonal in the doctor-patient relationship."

As an example, Dr. Cramer refers to a family he cared for at the Family Medical Center. "Three years ago I treated the father for an allergy. I was the mother's obstetrician, and I delivered their daughter. The family practice physician is very much a part of that family unit. They didn't have to travel from specialist to specialist."

Even an experienced traveler like Dr. Cramer appreciates a convenience like that.

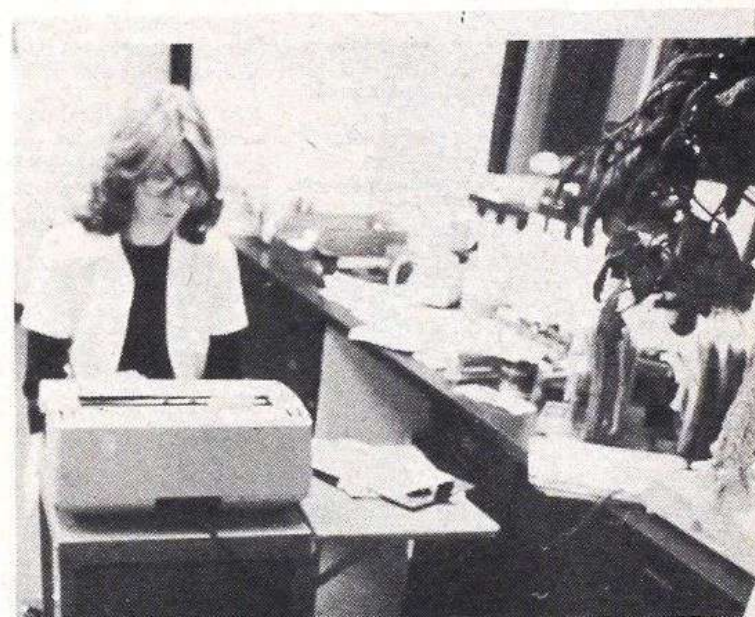

Typing, posting, filing, billing — these are all important tasks for the successful operation of the Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center. Sallyann Kormos (background) is responsible for posting and billing, while Diane Brickey, in addition to clerical duties, is the center's data computer coordinator.

Center has a Community Feeling

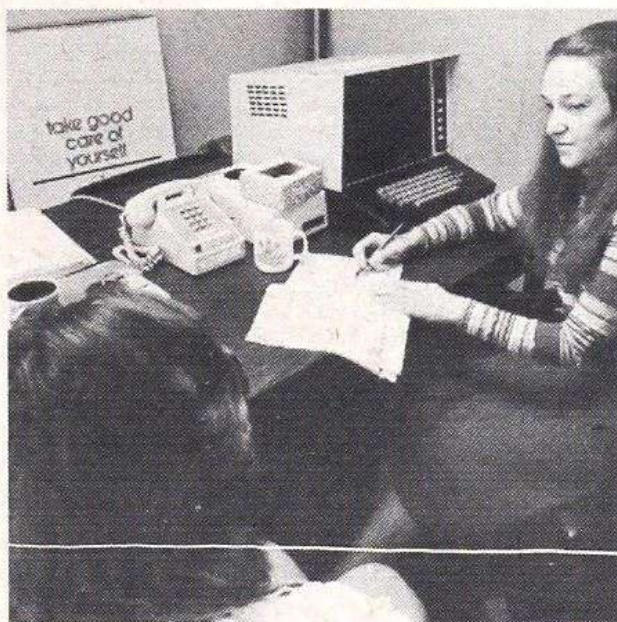

"I know a lot of those who come here," says one of the staff members at the Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center. Her statement points up the community feeling that exists at the center, established seven years ago to serve an area which, at that time, had been described as medically underserved. Each has her task to do in the efficient office. Marcy Brattin (in photo at right) is a clerk-typist-receptionist who handles appointments. Kim James (bottom right) is an x-ray technician who also doubles up to do the insurance billing and monthly census. Social worker Barbara Berkowitz handles the Center's Social Work office. Marital counseling, nursing home placement, and referral services for emergency shelter or food stamps, for example, are among the services that the office provides.

Sallyann Kormos is a hometown girl who has been with Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center for five of its seven years, making her the veteran of the Center's staff. She handles posting of accounts and billing.

A 1957 graduate of Belleville High School, she formerly worked as secretary to the superintendent of the Board of Education for the Sumpter School District and for Glenn Rotary Offset in New Boston before joining the Family Medical Center staff in March, 1974.

Her husband, Albert, is employed by McLouth Steel. They have four children.

Oakwood Hospital has received approval of the Michigan Dept. * of Public Health to build a new obstetric suite and neonatology unit that will serve Belleville, Sumpter Township and the rest of western Wayne County as a regional center for comprehensive high-risk obstetrical and newborn services.

In addition, the state approved plans for the expansion of the hospital's finance and medical records departments. The total cost is estimated at $4,695,512. Construction is expected to begin later this year with completion anticipated for January, 1982.

"The thrust of the program is to make quality health care for high-risk mothers and babies easily accessible to all patients in the downriver population that Oakwood serves," says Fitzgerald.

The scope of services in Oakwood's program will encompass preventive, Prenatal education and counseling, identification and treatment of high-risk problems, outpatient services, home care referral, family planning counseling, well-baby care, social services and other community agency referrals will be among the services available.

The new and expanded obstetric suite will occupy one floor, encompassing about 22,000 square feet, including 62 postpartum beds, five delivery rooms, 12 labor rooms with 18 beds, a 74-bassinnet nursery, and the new 20-bed neonatology unit.

One of the labor rooms will serve as an emergency delivery room. The nursery will provide intermediate and intensive care in addition to general care.

The neonatology unit, a new service, will care for very ill infants requiring Oakwood's total bed capacity will increase minimally, from its present 595 beds to 615, making it the eighth largest in the state. Ten beds will be deleted in the pediatrics unit and added to obstetrics, while 20 new beds will be added in the nursery unit for the neonatology service.

The Finance Department will be expanded to accommodate a data processing area and additional office space for administrators and clerical help. All of the changes will be made by renovating the existing department.

Medical Records will be enlarged to provide additional space for record storage, clerical support, office space, filing, conference space, and dictating area for physicians.

The whole procedure takes about 30 minutes. It's painless. One woman, after her tests were completed, commented: "There was nothing to it."

The three-day-old baby was tested for bleeding in the head. Another child, a three-month-old, was screened for hydrocephalus, or water on the brain. Most adults are tested for tumors, strokes, hemorrhages, and other malformations.

This coming summer marks the second anniversary of the installation of the computed tomographic brain scan at Oakwood, the only hospital in western Wayne County (and only one of 12 in the metropolitan area) to have this highly sophisticated, expensive equipment.

Non-invasive (meaning no painful injections are necessary), safe and simple, scanning is useful for screening patients for tumors and other types of suspected head and brain maladies at a much earlier stage than was possible under former traditional methods.

It offers great accuracy in distinguishing between small changes in densities too slight to be visible in conventional x-ray.

Experience has shown that brain scanning is far less expensive than conventional invasive practices. In many cases, it can be performed on an outpatient basis, thus avoiding hospital admission. The charge of about $300 is one-fifth of the cost for former procedures which required uncomfortable injections, expensive preparatory medications, and hospitalization for three or four days.

During a typical brain scan test, the patient lies on a couch with his head in a large machine. One woman patient thought it looked like a "washing machine."

The scanner takes photographs of the patient's head in layers 13 mm. thick, or about a quarter-inch. The scanner frame with the x-ray tube moves laterally around the patient's head in three-degree notches, making a 180-degree sweep.

The patient is automatically positioned for the next pair of scans, taking anywhere from 30 seconds to a minute to complete, depending on the kind of information that doctors are searching for.

The results are available in 25 seconds on a screen. They may be stored permanently on film or tape or temporarily on a disc or Polaroid-type picture.

Oakwood's scanner personnel serve outpatients on an appointment basis and schedule hospitalized patients in between.

They also accommodate patients from hospitals throughout western Wayne County.

It won't be long now. Oakwood Hospital's Emergency Department expects to begin using both its new and renovated quarters this summer as the hospital's two-year-old $7.8-million construction project nears completion.

Other major components include an Outpatient Center, opened a year ago, a Central Sterile Supply Department, a ten-story elevator tower, and a new Operating Suite.

It is anticipated that the Central Sterile Supply will be ready for occupancy at about the same time as the Emergency Department, while the Operating Suite is projected to be ready later in the year.

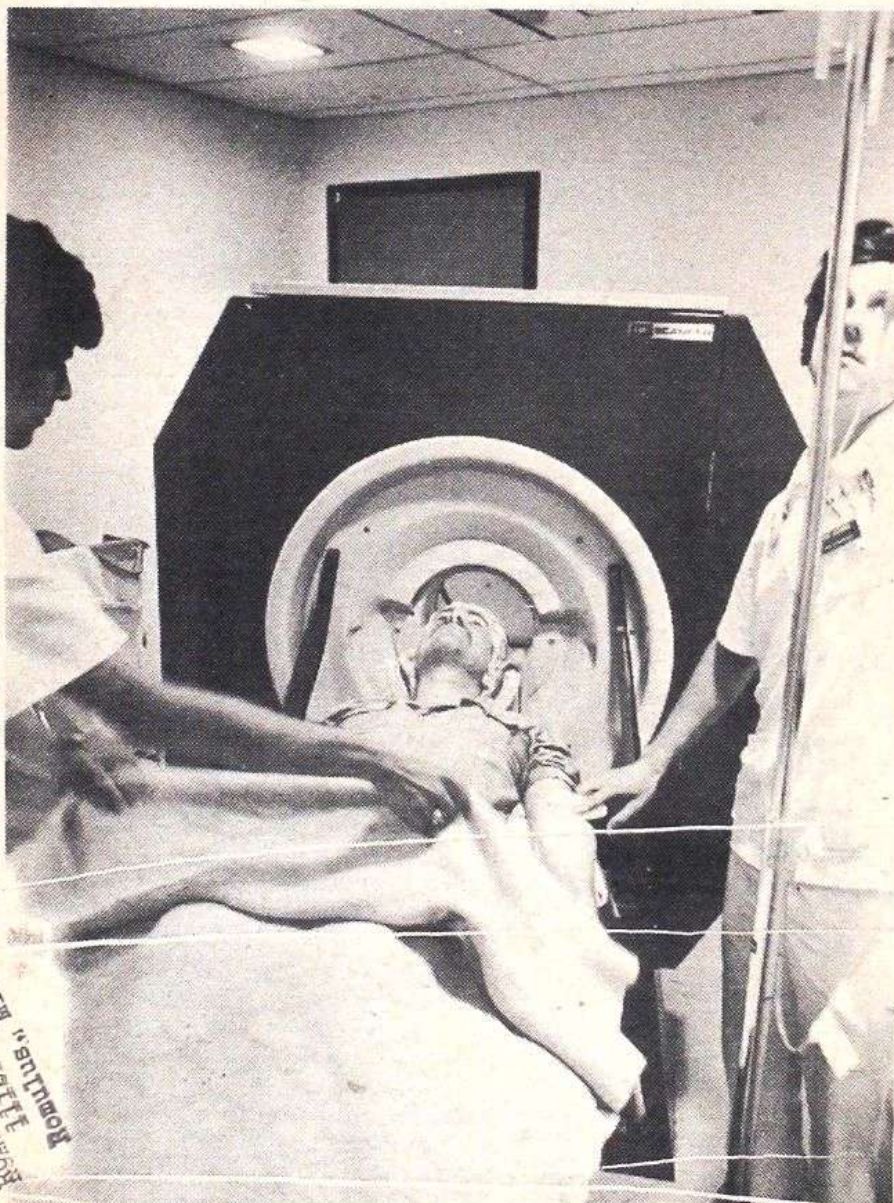

Already the largest and busiest Emergency Department in western Wayne County with its annual caseload of about 45,000 patient visits, the new facilities will enable Oakwood to handle an increased volume of patients and greatly improve its efficiency in processing patients.

Added floor space is the most obvious difference. The new emergency area takes up 14,200 square feet, nearly twice the former size.

About half the area is completely new, consisting of the main emergency entrance, registration desk, waiting area, public restrooms, offices for physicians and nurses, an examination room, and a security office.

The other half, the former emergency area, has been entirely renovated. It will have 31 beds, including 15 beds for emergency procedures such as suturing and applying casts and for various specialties such as obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics, and orthopedics; a four-bed major trauma area, complete with the latest monitoring equipment for treatment of life-threatening illness or injury; an eight-bed holding area for admitted patients; a two-bed x-ray observation room; and separate areas for isolation and psychiatric care.

A nurses' station and lounges for physicians and staff round out the renovated area.

Technicians prepare a patient for a computerized tomography scanner test at Oakwood Hospital, one of the world's most advanced yet simplest means for examining the human brain. X-ray, mathematics and high-speed technology provide an accurate brain scan in seconds and a complete study in 30 minutes, all done painlessly.
